BUT ONE REFERENDUM ON GAS QUESTION

Legal Authority Says Law Permits
No Second Vote By People On
Purchase of Gas Plant

A high legal authority notifies The Sun that a widespread misapprehension prevails as to the legal consequences of an affirmative vote by the public on the gas question at tomorrow's special election. The Sun was led to believe that the law, which apparently is very complicated in its application to this question, provided for an affirmative vote in two consecutive years and then a ratification by the legislature. A prominent legal authority assures us that there is nothing anywhere in the statutes or in the city charter that authorizes a second referendum following an affirmative vote on the purchase of the gas plant by the electorate.

The municipal lighting law of the state has been modified repeatedly in recent years and according to this legal authority, it now definitely provides for only one referendum, and no contract labor was the one and only vote that can be legally taken on that question.

Similarly the vote on the new charter next week will be the one, only and final vote which the public can cast.

Before Lowell adopted its present charter the municipal lighting law stipulated that no city could engage in municipal lighting until its city council had voted in favor of purchasing the plant in two consecutive years and until this action had been ratified by a majority of the

SCHOOLS VISITED

Firemen Talk to Children on Fire Prevention.

The school children of this city were given valuable information today on fire prevention when members of the fire department visited the various schools and talked on how to prevent fires and how to put out small fires.

The visit of the firemen to the schools was in observance of fire prevention day and their remarks were listened to with great interest. The children were assembled in the assembly hall of their respective school with the principal and teachers in attendance.

Capt. Shea visited the Edison and St. Peter's schools; M. O'Connor, Coburn and Riverside; James Jantzen, Dutton and Sacred Heart; Patrick J. Galan, Lincoln and Washington; Frank Sullivan, Moody and Immaculate Conception; John Whaley, Bartlett and St. Patrick's; Lieut. Stackpole, Highland and Franklin; Capt. H. Merrill, Varnum and Greenhalge; Capt. Chas. Abner, St. Michael's; Bart. Mullen, Pawtucket; Henry Carpenter, St. Joseph's; Edouard Landry, St. Louis and Lieut. Edward Cunningham, Green.

Judge Enright Not Satisfied With Way
Case of Woman Who Abandoned
Child Was Handled

Mary E. Edwards, of Cushing street, was committed to the state reformatory for women at Sherburne and sentence was suspended for one year by Judge Thomas J. Enright in the district court this morning for unlawfully abandoning a child. The woman pleaded guilty to the charge. Simultaneous with the arraignment the manner by which criminal cases involving women are investigated in this city came in for a severe criticism by the court. The justice, after calling Policewoman Emily M. Skilton to the bench and learning that no investigation of the case had been made, particularly following the infant's death, stated that he didn't like the way the case had been handled.

"When a woman is concerned in a case," the judge said, addressing most of the jury, "the judge, addressing most

Louis Sinasis Shot to Death in Dummer Street Coffee House—Witnesses of Shooting Say the Only Thing Saved Officer Was Failure of Dead Man's Gun to Function Properly

The repeated efforts of Louis Sinasis to pull the trigger of the revolver he kept pointed at Officer William L. Keegan caused the latter to fire the second and third shots that killed the former in a Dummer street coffee house Saturday night following a disturbance which the officer was attempting to quell, according to testimony of the policeman and of others who witnessed the affair.

It is the consensus of opinion, especially in police circles, that Officer Keegan used good judgment. He did not fire the first shot until his repeated commands to Sinasis to drop his gun went unheeded and Sinasis threatened him. As the first shot failed to frighten the gunman into submission and he was endeavoring to discharge a bullet from his own weapon, which, according to witnesses' stories, had apparently failed to work properly, Officer Keegan, realizing the peril of his position, fired two more shots and dropped Sinasis to the floor.

Police officials today stated that Sinasis, although little known in Lowell, possessed a notorious record in Lawrence and Portland, where, according to information obtained from those two cities, he had figured in shooting affairs.

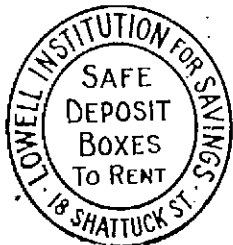

An inquest will be held in the near future, but in view of the circumstances, it is not believed that any action will be taken against the officer.

The police also learned today that Joseph Rousseau of Merrimack street identified Sinasis as the man who attempted to shoot him in a lunch

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Michael Collins, Sinn Fein minister of finance, arrived in London this morning, completing the Sinn Fein delegation which tomorrow will confer with representatives of the British government to ascertain "how the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British empire may best be reconciled with Irish national aspirations."

MIXUP ON TRANSFER OF SCHOOL BUILDING

Although four members of the school board claim it was legally voted at the last meeting of the board to turn the New Moody street school over to the commissioner of public buildings as the school department had no further use of the building, the superintendent of schools, who is also clerk of the school board, asserts that no such action was taken by the board. The superintendent's contention is that the board voted against a motion to defer action until the next meeting, but no action was taken on

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 10 (by the Associated Press).—The Yankees led with their young pitching ace, Waite Hoyt, this afternoon and the Giants were ready to counter with the southpaw, Art Nehf, in the fifth frame of the world series. The teams have two wins each notched in their battles and the club that captures three out of the remaining five contests will carry off the championship.

The Yankees agreed in the clubhouse today that they are overdue in their batting.

A MAN WHO KNEW

The late Col. Colt terminated his last will, with the paragraph that follows. It's worth one's time to read, and then ponder:

"I desire to impress upon my children and other relatives remembered under this, my last will, that they shall not speculate in any manner with the funds given them hereunder. Speculation, besides unbecoming and for regular occupations, does not pay and is almost certain to end in disaster. Money well invested with an average yield of say 5 per cent. will accumulate fast enough and the possessor of solid, unencumbered securities who neither speculates nor borrows money, feels strong and independent and is in far better condition to cope with the trials of life which come to all."

There is nothing to prevent one from incorporating the above in one's own last will and Testament. We aim to do it. It may HAMMER HOME to the children. Just what a safe FIVE PER CENT. Annually, really means.

ARRESTS NEAR IN BIG BOOZE THEFT

Officers Expect to Land Those Responsible of Stealing $300,000 Worth of Liquor

"Rare and Old" Liquors Taken From Country Estate of Millionaire Leiter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Arrests within 24 hours were promised today by Washington police and Virginia authorities investigating the theft of more than $300,000 worth of wines and liquors from the country estate, near here, of Joseph E. Leiter, millionaire sportsman and clubman.

Attendants at the Leiter estate were checking up today on the list of liquors held in the cellar to which, according to the police, robbers gained access a week ago by boring through the three inch steel door with an acetylene torch. The list of stolen liquors, according to information received by the police, included several thousand bottles of champagne, hundreds of five gallon demijohns of whiskey and brandies, hundreds of bottles of yellow and green Chartreuse and other liquors described as "rare and old." The loot apparently was carried away in motor trucks, without the breaking of a bottle, no evidence of the work of the robbers being left except the sacked cellar and the broken door. The cellar which faces on the Potomac river side of the Leiter estate, has solid cement walls with cement molds to hold bottles in a horizontal position.

VESSEL RAMMED TWICE AND SUNK; 13 LOST

DUBLIN, Oct. 10.—Three Irish republicans who had just been released from prison in Perth, Scotland, were among the passengers on the Laird line steamer Rowan, which was sunk early yesterday morning off the southwest coast of Scotland. The vessel collided with the American steamer West Camak, and sent out a wireless appeal for aid. The Clan Line Clan Malcolm rushed to the scene, and in a heavy fog struck the Rowan which quickly sank. So far as known 13 members of Rowan's crew and three passengers were lost.

For a time it was believed that many members of the American southern Synagogue orchestra, a colored aggregation of musicians, which has been touring Europe and the British Isles, were among the lost, but it was determined late last night that all members of the orchestra were saved. One musician, however, died after being taken from the water.

TADMUCK CLUB

Backstrom, and vocal selections by Mrs. Walter Burns.

Mixup on School Building

Continued
The motion to transfer the property to the city.

The four members of the board who differ with the superintendent are Chairman Delaney and Messrs. Bergeron, Markham and Warner. Their contention is that a motion was presented by Chairman Delaney that the building be turned over to the commissioners of public buildings, and an amendment to that motion to the effect that the matter be laid on the table until the next meeting, was presented by Mr. Markham. The amendment was voted upon and defeated and then the original motion was passed, Messrs. Donnelly and Markham voting in the negative.

This motion does not appear on the records of the superintendent, who denies any knowledge of it, and no action was taken by the superintendent to transfer the property to the city. When questioned this morning, Supt. Molloy stated that inasmuch as he has no record of the alleged motion, the matter will have to be taken up again by the board at its next meeting. On the other hand, a member of the school committee stated today that there is no necessity of another vote on the matter as such action has already been taken and all that is necessary is to instruct the superintendent to include in his records the motion as it was passed.

CALLED TO TESTIFY ON ALLEGED GRAFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Twelve witnesses with knowledge of alleged payments of graft by contractors to obtain city contracts in the borough of Queens were summoned to appear before the Mayor legislative committee today at the resumption of its investigation of the city administration.

Payments totalling $58,000 alleged to have been made by contractors in Queens already have been recited before the committee, and it was asserted other similar payments would be shown to have been made.

FOR COMBATING UNEMPLOYMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Sub-committees of the national conference on unemployment were prepared to consider recommendations for a program of permanent measures for combating unemployment and hastening the return to normal in industry and commerce in reconvening today in advance of the meeting of the full conference again tomorrow. Foreign trade, agriculture and the relation of credit to the country's economic structure were among the general subjects to be studied by the committees.

A report showed that emergency committees had been appointed by the mayors of 31 cities with organization of committees under way in 20 more.

Judge Enright Not Satisfied

of his remarks to the police, "The officer who has made the arrest should turn all information he has to the policewomen's department and they should conduct a thorough investigation. That's what they are getting paid for and that's what they are asked to do by this court. A matter of this kind should be carefully gone into and all circumstances surrounding the case closely investigated and reported to the court when arraignment is made." The court had previously asked if the woman had a police record and whether or not anything of her past was known. When the police and the probation officer stated they knew nothing about the woman they knew nothing about the woman they court expressed himself as dissatisfied with the course followed in the case and said that a thorough investigation should have been made.

The Edwards woman's arrest followed the discovery of a newly born baby boy on the roof of a tenement off Cushing street the night of Sept. 27. Although the woman submitted to a blood transfusion operation at the Chelmsford street hospital to save the life of the baby, death claimed him several days later. Inasmuch as the report of the city physician showed that death was due from causes other than those that may have resulted from the abortion, no more serious charge was preferred against the woman.

To Discuss Irish Problem

Irish delegation also had a meeting to decide upon the course of procedure. Mr. Collins is staying with the secretary of the Irish delegation, the other Sinn Fein delegates being accommodated in another residence nearby. Arthur Griffith, the Sinn Fein foreign minister, said this morning he was delighted with the success of the Sinn Feiners in obtaining the services as third secretary to the Irish delegation of John Chartres, who besides being highly versed in legal matters, was chief of the intelligence section of the war office armaments output committee during the war and for nine years was director of the intelligence department of the London Times. Mr. Griffith said he expected Mr. Chartres to be of great value to the delegation in interpreting the British proposals. Mr. Chartres is staying with Mr. Griffith.

Eamon J. Duggan, Sinn Fein member of the British parliament who since the truce has served as chief liaison officer, arrived early at the secretariat for a conference with the other delegates. He said he had arranged to keep in close touch with his substitute as chief liaison officer of Ireland regarding the truce, and declared he had no apprehension concerning it. Murphy, the substitute, he said, had served as liaison officer in Athlone, where he behaved with discretion, no friction having arisen between him and the military.

The Sinn Fein delegates have decided not to accept any hospitality while in England, except from personal friends. This decision is not due to hostility towards Londoners, they say, but because they wish to save themselves from being overwhelmed with invitations and desire to devote every moment to work in hand.

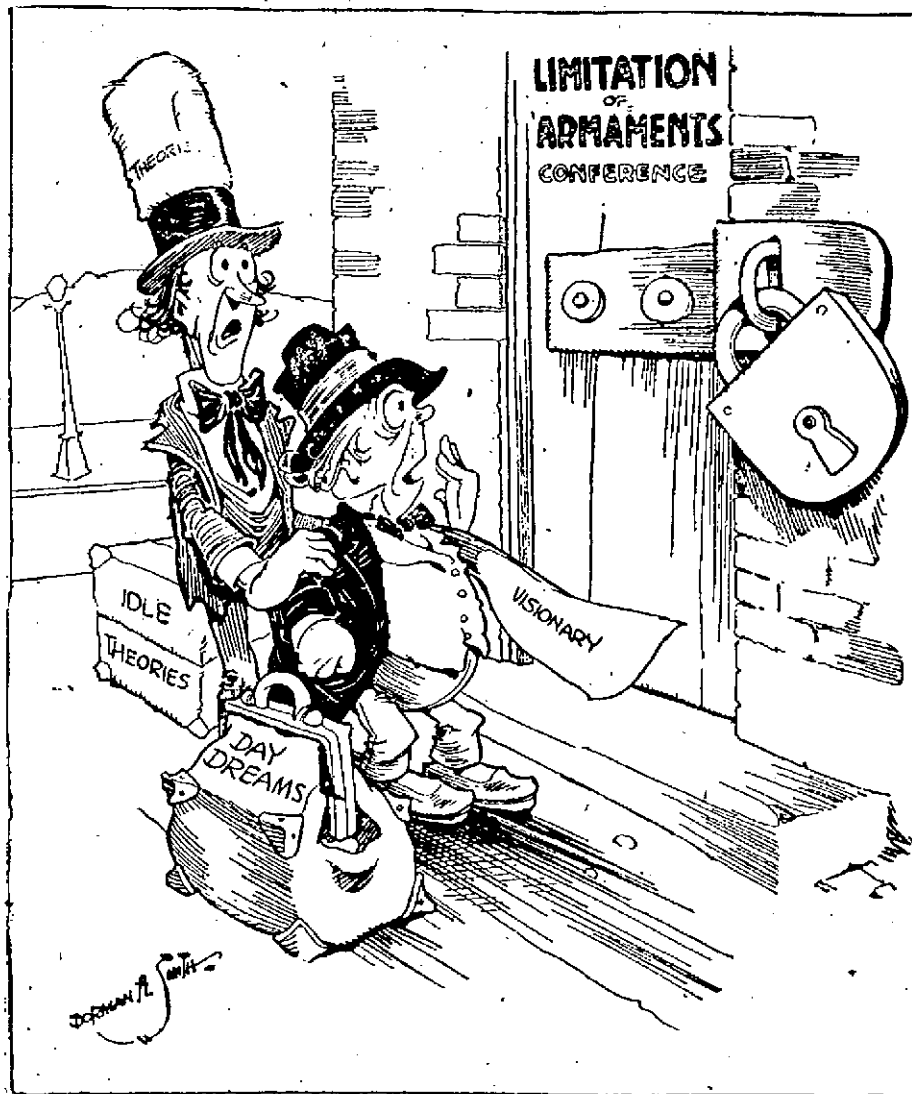

Desmond Fitzgerald, Sinn Fein minister of propaganda, said today he expected the conference commencing tomorrow would decide to issue an agreed communique daily, as was done when Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, met Mr. Lloyd George in London, some time ago. If the British representatives have a stenographer present, he declared, the Sinn Fein delegates will claim a similar right and brought a man from Dublin with them for that purpose.

Whatever decisions were reached by the Sinn Fein delegates, this morning were kept closely to themselves. An official of the delegation dismissing inquiries with the statement that the matters to come under review at the first meeting tomorrow was for the negotiators to determine. Another meeting of the cabinet ministers will be held tonight.

That J. E. Lloyd George does not expect the initial conversations to be lengthy, appears to be indicated by his telling representatives of the labor organizations this morning that he would receive their delegation at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening to hear their proposals relative to the unemployment situation.

Irish Delegates Confer

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Conferences preparatory to the beginning of formal negotiations tomorrow between Sinn Fein delegates and members of the British cabinet relative to a settlement of the Irish problem were being held today by the Irish delegates. The Dublin representatives have brought to London a large retinue of secretaries, legal experts, historians and economists, and today's conversations were held to make final arrangement for tomorrow's meeting. There was some apprehension lest events in Ireland would embarrass the conference during their labors here. There have been many scattering acts of violence recently at different places in Ireland.

Rita Weiman Evolves New Scenario Ideas from Old Ones

RITA WEIMAN. SHE IS ONE OF THE MANY POPULAR AUTHORS OF THE DAY WHO ARE STUDYING MOVIES IN THE STUDIO THAT THEY MAY CONVERT THEIR STORIES AND PLAYS INTO SCENARIOS.

BY JAMES W. DDAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Aspiring scenario writers who plod away day in and day out trying to fashion an acceptable script may lose heart when they learn how easily plots occur to Rita Weiman.

She has two photoplays showing simultaneously on Broadway. They are "Footlights" and "After the Show."

After Miss Weiman had adapted "Footlights" for the screen she met Wm. DeMille. That play deals with the tribulations that beset a girl ambitious to succeed on the stage.

DeMille asked Miss Weiman to write a story with a protective theme, one about an old man's love for a young girl.

Several days later Miss Weiman recalled the conversation and—presto! the plot! She would have an old stage doorkeeper as the guardian of a young girl with stage aspirations.

She wrote the story and sold it to a magazine under the title of "The Stage Door." Then she adapted as a scenario for DeMille under the title "After the Show." Simple, wasn't it?

"Footlights" tells the story of an unknown actress' rise to stardom. Therefore, it warrants the focusing of all action and exploitation upon the star.

"Footlights" is Miss Ferguson's best picture. That's because she displays in it some of that animation, that elusive thing called personality, evident in her stage plays. This quality was lacking in other films which I recall—"Sacred and Profane Love," "Lady Rose's Daughter," and "His House in Order."

In "Footlights" Miss Ferguson is Lizzie Parsons, a New England girl who is really to give up her stage ambition after two years of small-time vaudeville.

Then Oswald Kane, famous theatrical promoter, finds her. To excite interest, she agrees to adopt the name of Lizzie Parsons. He hires tutors to teach her to speak with a Russian accent. She acquires a taste for Russian tea.

He exploits her as a famous Russian actress learning English for the American stage. Then comes her debut as Lizzie Parsons. She triumphs. Then falls in love.

She realizes her hero loves Lizzie and not Lizzie. She cannot divulge her true self. Death is the only end to this Frankenstein figure she has made of herself.

She rows out into the fog. The boat is found with her clothes in it. Lizzie Parsons is dead, but Lizzie Parsons lives. Her lover finds her. Happiness ever after.

That ending is the same old stuff. The worth of John S. Robertson's directing and the talent of the star and the genius of the author are counteracted by the platitudinous ending.

CALHOUN AND COMPTON BOTH TO PLAY LITTLE MINISTER

Vitaphone has started to film "The Little Minister" with Alice Calhoun in the title role. Famous Players-Lasky has about completed a film version of the same play with Betty Compton, directed by Penrhyn Stanlaws.

Vitaphone announces that it has held the film rights to the Barrie play, which Maud Adams made famous, for several years. Famous Players-Lasky announces it made its version of the play under an agreement with the author.

Copyrights on the story in the United States are said to have expired several years ago. One wonders then why this delightful play has not long since been put on the screen in preference to some of the very weak stories which have predominated.

REELGRAPHS

Vera Gordon has completed "Her Daughter-in-Law."

Lottie Pickford has gone to Europe to join Sister Mary.

W. N. Selig is producing a 15-episode animal serial at his zoo.

Ferdinand Earle is a painter, movie producer and violinist.

Marjorie Day is to play opposite Herbert Rawlinson in "Barry Gordon."

Rubye DeRemer goes to London to join the famous Players-Lasky producing unit.

SEPARATE SKIRT NOT YET DISCARDED

BY MARIAN HALE

Even the popularity of the one-piece gown has not completely sent the separate skirt into fashion's discard. Indeed, this season shows the separate skirt very much in evidence.

The individuality and loveliness of the new blouses with their long waists lines is partly responsible for this. Then, too, the separate skirt is developed into so many artistic modes that often when worn with elaborate blouses it looks like a costume.

The skirt of chinchilla satin with the long hanging fringed side panels gives evidence of this elaborate tendency. The blouse is of pussy willow satin crepe.

Sports skirts claim the bigger part of these separate "jupons." They are often worn with smart blouses under the long coat. The satin-striped pussy willow crepe shows how effectively the pleated and plaid models may be combined.

Five Men Reported Killed When Wall Collapsed at Lynchburg, Va.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 10.—Five men, all white, were reported killed and two others injured here, early today, when a brick wall of a building at Fifth and Church streets collapsed. The building was being torn down by the city and all of the dead and injured were workmen employed by the city.

The snapping of a plate over an old fashioned fireplace caused the wall to topple, catching the seven men almost without warning. Three men in the gang escaped, two of them by jumping 10 feet to the street below, while one pressed himself against the wall and escaped as the lower five feet of the wall did not fall.

TAKE YEAST THE BEST WAY—WITH IRON

If Weak, Thin or Run-Down Take Ironized Yeast, the Great New Vitaminic Tonic Treatment in Tablet Form

At last the perfect yeast combination has been discovered:

No longer will it be necessary for people to put up with all the objectionable features of eating ordinary baking yeast for health. For yeast may now be taken in convenient tablet form, combined with iron, which is necessary in order to get the best benefit from yeast.

This preparation is called Ironized Yeast, and is the approved vitaminic tonic treatment for run-down condition, loss of weight, nervousness, lack of energy, poor appetite, skin eruptions and other run-down symptoms.

The reason Ironized Yeast is bringing such splendid results everywhere is because it contains highly concentrated brewer's yeast, which is far richer in vitamins than ordinary baking yeast. Vitamins, as we know, are one of the most essential of all food elements—yet our modern diet is almost entirely lacking in them.

If you are weak, pale, sickly—if you are nervous, irritable, and can't sleep nights—if your vitality is low and you are getting old before your time—then try this remarkable new tonic. You will notice a good improvement in your condition even after the first few days' use. Pimples, boils and other skin blemishes usually disappear entirely within two weeks. Everywhere people are saying that Ironized Yeast is just the tonic they needed.

Ironized Yeast will keep indefinitely and costs no more per dose than common yeast. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and costs only $1.00—or just 10¢ a day. Special directions for children in each package. Sold at all druggists. Made by the Ironized Yeast Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Harley-Davidson Holds All 1921 National Championships

Wins the Five Championships at Syracuse

Through the spectacular cleanup on the one-mile dirt track at Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 19th, Harley-Davidson annexed the 1, 5, 10, 25 and 50 mile National Championships to its long string of unequalled achievements. Not only did Harley-Davidson win every race at Syracuse, but three new M. & A. T. A. records were established. Fred Ludlow on his reliable Harley-Davidson covered the 50 miles in 38 min. 52.13 sec., the 25 miles in 19 min. 17.6 sec., and the 10 miles in 7 min. 38.8 sec., thereby clipping 1 min. 60.47 sec., 6.8 sec. and 6 sec., respectively, from the former M. & A. T. A. records already held by Harley-Davidson.

Harley-Davidson Establishes Many New M. & A. T. A. Records

The 1921 racing season was a year of continuous record smashing for Harley-Davidson. In the National Championship Races alone, Harley-Davidson established six new M. & A. T. A. records. Rain Interfered With the Republican Field Day at Westford, Saturday, But Everybody Was Happy

Speakers at Big Event Included Governor Cox and Congressman John Jacob Rogers—John M. Fletcher, Westford's Foremost Democrat, Chummed Around With and Acted as Host to Republican Visitors

The Sun is able to announce that although most of the regular voters of the attractive little hill town of Westford are real-hot republicans with a 72-point R, Mr. John M. Fletcher, who smokes first rate and numerous cigars and keeps an up-to-date general store in that splendid town, is still a democrat.

Although 3000 men and women of G. O. P. leanings roamed over the Westford streets and playgrounds Saturday, all hot dogs and cream sherbet, played the fakirs on the midway and listened to a galaxy of republican speakers, ranging from Governor Channing Cox and Congressman John Jacob Rogers to Representative Alfred W. Hartford (of Westford and Lowell), the reverberations of the first big guns of the G. O. P. made no impression whatever upon Citizen Fletcher.

"I have always been a democrat and I am a democrat today," he said, when a Sun man asked him if he was there with the other Fletchers, most of whom are republicans in political dogma therabouts. It was discovered right away that John Fletcher of the cigar and warm handshake was no relation to the "other Fletcher," meaning that stalwart gentleman on the other side of the Westford square—Capt. Sherman Fletcher. The latter, well along in years, was on hand Saturday with the rest of the 1921-22 clan of Harding Braves, ready to have another outing and a better one right away if the democrats dare to start anything.

Westford never enjoyed anything so well as it did the Saturday turnout. G. O. P. enthusiasm was on tap from morning until midnight, when the day's events wound up with a concert and ball.

But the democratic Fletcher never uttered a sigh—he is not discouraged. He chummed around with everybody, acted as host for a lot of jolly G. O. P. politicians from Lowell and Ayer, and even passed out cigars when any were needed. And Sunday, after the big day's events were over and everybody was going to church, Mr. Fletcher of another clan than the Sherman Fletcher—was still a democrat.

"And you can put it right in the Sun, too," he said, offering another cigar. "But I'll admit I had a good time yesterday with my enemies. The Westford democrat turnout of the party and live wire committeemen were present from each of the following towns:

Everybody at the outing Saturday was made to feel at home. Representative Hartford and other Westford citizens taking part in the outing festivities kept open house all day, wives acting as hostesses, and all royally enjoying the old-fashioned turnout of the G. O. P. cohorts. Representatives of the party and live wire committeemen were present from each of the following towns:

Townsend, Pepperell, Dunstable, Tyngsboro, Dracut, Chelmsford, Billerica, Bedford, Carlisle, Acton, Boxboro, Ayer, Groton, Harvard, Shirley, Concord, Maynard, Hudson, Tewksbury, Lancaster and Lowell.

There were concerts by the Abbot Worsted Co.'s band of 10 pieces, community singing led by Ralph "Pep" Hawkes, director of entertainment for the Republican league of Massachusetts; a midway with numerous attractions and good refreshment booths; sports, events that were worth watching, and a concert and ball in the town hall in the evening, with music by an orchestra from Waltham. O. L. Court of New York gave an exhibition of eccentric dancing.

The heavy rain that came before the afternoon program was finished, cancelled a portion of the events, but everybody had a royal good time and the G. O. P. leaders are satisfied.

"Non-Partisan" Speakers

While the outing called "non-partisan," the Republican league is the real sponsor and this was the first gun which always opens the political dance in Massachusetts.

Governor Cox was in good form and thoroughly enjoyed his visit. He received a fine reception as he walked across the playground escorted by the Abbot band, with Messrs. Nichols and Hartford on either side to show the way to the speaker's stand.

Governor Cox declared that "one-man rule" had gone in Washington. He praised the voters of this district for their loyalty to government ideals, and had a good word to say for Congressman Rogers and his service to Massachusetts. The governor declared his party intended to keep all pledges to the people and told of many constructive plans for the benefit of business and home life. He approved President Harding's plan for disarmament.

Congressman Rogers received an ovation. He said in part: "We of the republican party have been in power for six months, and while we have not made the headway that might be desired in some quarters, it must be remembered that an evil that has been growing for eight years cannot be corrected in a moment. I think that President Harding has done extraordinarily well under the circumstances. He has demonstrated himself a man with a purpose and with a backbone. He has not tried to steer the ship around. He has brought to his assistance such men as Hughes, Hoover and Weeks, and others qualified for their respective responsibilities. Weeks has saved the country six billions in six months."

"Permit me to emphasize the fact that when republicans assumed control recently, they faced a chaotic condition. To solve the many problems inevitably associated with that condition was not the work of a day or a week or a month. Most careful consideration was necessary. Plunging in with a so-called corrective would be as bad as no action at all. Every move had to be studied out with greatest care, in order that the new foundation might be secure and lasting. We believe that we as a party are nearing the goal."

Mrs. Emma Pallas Schofield was warmly greeted and her message of interest to women voters was received with due appreciation. She made an impression quickly by her earnestness and her evident desire to be of real help to the non-partisans, for she urged none of her hearers to vote for any particular ticket.

"Exercise your privilege and vote," she said in closing.

Chap. II Again, G. O. P.

When the governor said the year's expense budget for the state of Massachusetts had been cut about $1,000,000, a voter shouted: "Chop it again!"

Mrs. Schofield was in excellent voice and her address was listened to with rapt attention by the hundreds of women in sympathy with the cause of the ballot.

Rep. Howard White of Ayer, banker, politician and all-round party worker, was there.

Hubert Burbank of Boston, G. O. P. worker extraordinary, was ever present. He is in from league headquarters and looks after all tangles and troublesome matters.

Louis K. Liggett, the druggist and horseman, wasn't around, although he had been invited. Mr. Liggett was one of the founders of the league at the Lake Nagog inn meeting two or three years ago.

Another visitor was Robert Atkins of Belmont. They all know him in G. O. P. circles.

The big shower wet things up considerably, but none of the day's enthusiasm was dampened.

A little later at the Acton fair, the governor called on former Selectman E. F. Conant for a few minutes' chat on the front piazza. He appeared at the Conant home unannounced and alone, while the crowd missed him and couldn't find him.

Hon. Luther Conant

A notable guest of the day was Hon. Luther Conant of Acton, former representative and now more than 90 years of age. He was for many years a vigorous G. O. P. figure in local political campaigns and a regular rally speaker. He was escorted to the speaker's stand Saturday, and shook hands with Governor Cox and Congressman Rogers, and then posed a moment for the photographers.

The governor was particularly pleased to meet the Acton man and chatted with him for several minutes while the crowd applauded the little group.

A feature of the outing was the presence of many woman voters. More than 200 women in the Westford G. O. P. organization were present, wearing shiny new badges.

Representative Hartford is chairman of the district league that takes in the 5th senatorial and 11th representative districts.

The following committees had charge of the day's outing:

Chairman: Edward Robbins, Chelmsford; secretary, Ray Hazeltine, Chelmsford; treasurer, Alfred W. Hartford, Westford; reception committee, chairman, Mrs. A. W. Hartford, Mrs. Carl Lydard, Mrs. David Greig, Mrs. W. R. Taylor, Mrs. Perley E. Wright, Mrs. William E. Wright, Miss Julia H. Fletcher, Miss Gertrude D.

PROHIBITION QUESTION

Local Pastor Appeals to the Moral Sense of the Community

Charging that even the church had been lax in prohibition matters, Dr. Edward Babcock, pastor of the First Baptist church, pulled to pieces the prohibition situation in this city in his address last night on the subject: "What is the matter with prohibition in Lowell?"

Dr. Babcock said his talk was not meant as a criticism of the police. He says the reason for more liquor circulating here than in the olden days lies in the flippant views taken of the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

The remedy for the sad state of affairs lies in an awakening of the moral sense of the community," said Mr. Babcock.

Three hundred women voters and nearly all of them there!

Julian A. Cameron of the Abbot Worsted Co. was an enthusiastic guest.

Wesley O. Hawkes, Westford veteran and strong republican, represented the G. A. R.

"Fill your machines!" was the foreword, and every silver was loaded to the roof with guests from "all over."

Acton couldn't send her committeemen, who were busy harvesting fall crops, so sent her oldest citizen, ex-Rep. Luther Conant, who got a fine reception.

Many more would have gone to the rally from Lowell G. O. P. ranks if the weather in the afternoon had been better.

Westford holds another blue ribbon. More than 100 voters belong to the Republican league, Rep. Hartford says.

The Westford-Lowell insurance man and his wife were the busiest people in town and their fine home just outside the village centre was thronged with visitors all day and evening. "Open house" was the rule all about the common and playgrounds.

The governor told a lot of funny stories—he has them right on tap when circulating among the fillers of the soil. And they were hugely enjoyed.

Y. W. C. A. TO OPEN FALL ACTIVITIES

On Wednesday, Columbus day, will take place the first of many outings and entertainments planned for members of the Lowell Y. W. C. A. this winter when about 30 girls and young women will be taken by motor truck to Camp Welding, beyond Tyngsboro, to enjoy a heehee party, boating on the river and various kinds of games. The party will leave Lowell at 8:30, returning at 10 o'clock and all those desiring to go are asked to register immediately.

Various departments of the Y. W. C. A. and all of the girls' clubs are this week beginning their regular meetings and within a short time the work will have become smooth-running. Under the leadership of Miss Mildred E. Martins, new physical director, gymnasium classes started this morning and will continue for a period of 15 weeks. According to Miss Martins, membership in the association is not necessary for attendance at gymnasium classes. Several new features have been added this year, and in addition to the dancing classes for children and regular gymnastic classes for beginners and advanced pupils there are two divisions in callisthenics for women.

More than 50 registered for the high school classes under the direction of Mrs. Eggleston last week, about the same number for the story-telling course and about 40 for the leaders' course. Because the registration was so much greater than had been expected, arrangements have now been made to accommodate a few more in each of these divisions.

Among clubs which have started work within the last week or which will have their first meetings soon are the Ayuda club, composed of industrial girls, which will have a supper Thursday evening at 6:30 followed by a regular meeting at 7:30. A club for high school freshmen and sophomora girls will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and one for juniors and seniors at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 15. Several clubs for younger girls are also starting, among them the Florence Nightingale club which will hold a special meeting, featured by a candy pull and a first aid talk on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

ATTEMPT TO LAY BARE THE SECRET OF MARS

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Rocket, radio or camera—which will be first to lay bare the secret of Mars?

Of course, it isn't at all certain that any one of the three will prove a successful Sherlock-Holmes of the skies, but scientists, lured on by an age-old curiosity concerning our neighboring planet, are pressing along all three paths.

The latest development to set the scientific world again raring over the old question of whether there was life on Mars was the announcement from Paris of B. McAffee, American scientist and Professor David Todd, American astronomer, that they purposed to snap-shoot the planet by using an abandoned mine shaft in Chile as the barrel for a telescope.

Only a short time before Signor Marconi of wireless fame had put a kick of interest in the most fantastic of scientific inquiries by suggesting that a radio signal of 150,000 meters which he had picked up might have come from some Martian armed with a mammoth sending set.

But it was left to Professor Robert H. Goddard of Clark college in Worcester, Mass., to suggest making an investigation of the moon by means of a multiple-charge, high efficiency rocket, capable of carrying cameras or other recording apparatus needed to explore the unknown regions of the upper air. As the claim was made that a rocket could be constructed of unlimited cruising power, it has been suggested that it might be shot up to Mars instead of the moon, which many scientists affirm is uninhabited. One or two daring individuals even have volunteered to be shot up in place of a camera.

The possibility that some folk might be wandering up and down the valleys of Mars has excited the curiosity of astronomers and laymen throughout all the ages for Mars is the nearest planet to the earth and the easiest to observe.

Imaginative writers took their readers on trips to the moon and laid the scenes of their stories in the surroundings of Mars, Saturn and other planets but there was little scientific knowledge to furnish a basis for such fiction.

The perfecting of the high powered telescope and the adaptation of photography to the uses of the astronomers quickened their interest in the possibility of life on another world. Mars, which was seen to have large areas of bluish green and other areas of an ochre red color, was believed by many astronomers to be capable of supporting life in some form.

Schiaparelli, an Italian astronomer, announced in 1871 that he had found the surface of the planet scarred by many lines which were perfectly straight and seemed to be some system like vast engineering works. He called the lines canals and said he believed they had been constructed and were not simply cracks in the surface of the planet.

Professor Percival Lowell erected an observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz., many years ago and commenced a systematic observation of Mars. More than 10 years ago he startled the world by expressing his belief that Mars was inhabited by intelligent organisms living in a civilization much farther advanced than ours.

The canals, he said, were really big ditches bringing water from the poles to irrigate the rest of the planet. The ochre red areas on the surface of Mars, he asserted, were deserts or fallow fields which became bluish green as the water flowed along the canals in the seasons.

Later, he said that he had watched the bluish green area, denoting land springing to life with the coming of the water, spread down the northern hemisphere along the borders of the canals to beyond the equator of the planet and then gradually turn reddish brown with the waning of the season. The water, he claimed, was from ice melting on the polar caps of the planet.

Other scientists took the opposite point of view. Some said the canals were only cracks in the surface of the planet filled with sand, impregnated with salts of various kinds, which became dark or light to the observer according to its moisture content. The temperature on Mars, they said, was too cold to support life of any kind.

Lowell retorted that his observations showed that the average temperature of Mars is 48 degrees Fahrenheit. The regularity of the canals, which they even spacing, the accuracy with which they were made by sentient organisms of high intelligence.

More than 500 canals and oases, as Lowell claimed the spots to be, have been mapped out and their names are so well known that Harvard observatory announced last April that snow had been observed falling at hills in the district of Syrtis Major, Mars. It was held by some that the canals had been developed to signal the earth which must appear to the Martians as of immense size, being nine times bigger than Mars.

With the development of wireless telegraphy several attempts have been made to set into communication with Mars with high-powered apparatus. Signor Marconi gave encouragement to that field of research recently, when he announced that in the course of experimenting he had picked up a signal with a wave length of 150,000 meters, about six times as long as any commercial apparatus in use today.

Marconi said the letter V had been repeated several times in international code. He suggested that possibly the inhabitants of Mars were trying to get into communication with the earth. Two engineers of Omaha devoted two weeks of their time recently to listening for signals from Mars. They kept their apparatus tuned to catch such a message as Marconi described but they heard nothing.

Controversy has run high over the bold proposal of Messrs. McAffee and Todd. A mine shaft in the Chilean Andes, which will point directly at Mars in 1921, will provide the barrel of their telescope. They announced that a 40-hp. motor of mercury revolving at high speed at the bottom will provide the mirror. The two Americans calculate that the surface of Mars will be magnified at least 25,000,000 times bringing it within a few miles of their cameras.

The mine shaft will be widened to 50 feet diameter and a shaft will be put of mercury at the bottom will be revolved at such high speed that it will assume a concave shape and become a mirror. The depth of the fortunately placed shaft is so great that there will be sufficient luminosity, the two scientists said, to enable them to take snapshots instead of time exposures.

The Goddard proposal for aerial investigation also includes use of cameras. To summarize his principle, the determining factor of the efficiency of a rocket is the velocity of the ejection of gases due to the explosion of propelling material. By increasing this velocity, through increasing the proportion of the propelling material to weight of projectile and through a greatly improved nozzle-shaped passage for the escape of gases, Professor Goddard claims to have raised the efficiency of the rocket to nearly 64 per cent.

Many investigators are convinced that life exists on Mars and expect to prove it with the novel telescope. What they will find on their photographic plates is the object of speculation by scientific men the world over. Lowell has said that Mars is level and uninteresting with no mountains and only a few dried-up beds of shallow seas to diversify its topography. More than one-half of it is desert land and the rest is only green when the canals are bringing water from the polar ice caps. Dust storms which blot out hundreds of square miles of the planet's surface from the view of scientific observers sweep over its equatorial section.

The physical conditions of Mars are entirely different from those we know on earth. The force of gravity exerted by Mars is only three-eighths that of the earth while the atmospheric pressure that is about 15 pounds to the square inch at sea level on our world is less than four pounds on Mars. The air is very thin and no known animal could live on it. These conditions, however, make it possible for great weights to be lifted with little effort. Lowell computed that the Martians could do seven times more work than human beings could accomplish with the same amount of effort. A human observer on Mars, he said, would be impressed by the slowness and flatness of his surroundings.

An elephant could leap like a gazelle in such an atmosphere, he said; water would flow with a hesitant lazy current and a stone thrown into the air would sink with graceful moderation to the ground. He made no attempt to describe how the Martians themselves might appear to worldlings but he said they would not resemble human beings.

The Martian day is 24 minutes longer than ours but the seasons are twice as long. Lowell asserted that Mars is slowly dying for want of water and the canals had been built in an epic struggle of the Martians to maintain life. He suggested that the spots observed at the intersections of some of the canals might be cities built up around points where the greatest amount of water could be concentrated by the canals.

CANADA PLACES 27,000 VETERANS ON FARMS

OTTAWA, Ont. Sept. 10.—Canada has spent over $4,000,000 in the establishment of returned soldiers on the land. This figure represents over 27,000 individual ex-service men who have benefited from the law which had for its twin aims soldier re-establishment and the development of the agricultural resources of the dominion. It represents 80 per cent. of Canada's ex-service men who have gone back to the land and 30 per cent. of the men of the Canadian army who were demobilized as physically fit.

Under the law any ex-service man eligible from a military standpoint, having seen service overseas, may apply for loans up to a maximum of $7500 for the following purposes: for the purchase of land $4500; for stock and equipment $2000; for permanent improvements $1000. If on encumbered land, the ex-soldier is entitled to loans amounting to $5000; if on free dominion land, to loans amounting to $3000. In the case of purchased land the settler must pay 10 per cent. of the cost price of the land as a guarantee of good faith.

These benefits are open to men of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, to ex-service men of Great Britain, the dominions and the allied forces, who lived in Canada prior to the war, and to ex-service men of the Imperial or dominion forces, if on their arrival in Canada they spend a sufficient time to gain practical agricultural experience on Canadian farms. The Imperials, however, are required to pay 20 per cent. of the expenditure for all purposes cash down.

On July 31, the number of applications was 50,327, and of these 43,765 had been accepted as qualified to farm. Nearly 1000 others are in training with the intention of taking up farms when qualified. Of the 26,701 settled on the land, 20,324 were granted loans. The others were located on free dominion lands without financial assistance.

The settlement board adopted a system of selection, requiring that applicants must pass a rigid examination as to physical ability, moral character and sincerity of purpose, with the result that, out of the 26,000 men who have now been on the land upwards of two years, strict supervision of their operations has revealed the fact that only about 10 per cent. have failed to show promise of satisfactory results. In some cases, it has been found necessary to allow the settler to withdraw from his obligation and the board has taken over his farm and sold it to another.

In such cases, where the investment of the government was $1652,729, the government realized on resale $1,654,523, showing a loss of only $19.30 on each farm.

The loans for land and permanent improvements run for 25 years, those for stock and equipment for six years, with interest at five per cent. No payments were due until the fall of 1920, when 12,321 men were liable. The number who made repayments was 9,330 and 1,439 made prepayments. There were 103 who repaid their entire loans.

In view of the collapse of the markets in the middle of the threshing season and of the occurrence of drought and other visitations last year in some localities in the west, the government regards this statement as very satisfactory and it is believed that a very few years will see most of these soldier farmers well on their way to success. Indeed, there are cases where settlers have taken from the ground crops aggregating in value more than the whole cost of their farms.

Alberta has the largest number of soldier settlers, with 6058; Saskatchewan 5136; the other provinces in the order named: Manitoba, 3519; British Columbia, 2975; Ontario, 1521; New Brunswick 513; Nova Scotia, 351; Quebec, 353; Prince Edward Island, 323.

In addition to the loan advantages which a soldier settler has, the board secures for him very favorable arrangements with regard to the purchase of his stock and equipment. Farm machinery manufacturers, lumber dealers, harness and wagon makers give special prizes to soldier settlers. In some cases, amounting to a reduction of 30 per cent. in the purchase of equipment, the board has effected a saving of $556,391. It also has saved the settlers large sums in land purchase. No intermediary is permitted to take a rake-off on soldier farms; the land is bought direct from the owner.

The most important advantage, however, is the supervision which the board gives to its settlers. It advises him in all his operations until satisfied that he is doing well and in a position to carry on without assistance. It buys only what he needs, not what he wants, in this way curbing his propensity for rash buying.

A home branch counsellor and assists in whatever manner seems to be desirable the dependents of the settlers. This branch has secured the co-operation of the Red Cross and other societies in the establishment of hospitals in remote areas and it has brought thousands of the women to centers of population for courses in home economics, which have proved very interesting and helpful.

This great re-establishment scheme, which it is claimed is unrivalled in the world, is administered by a board of three: Major John Barnett, Major E. J. Ashton, and Samuel Maher. The head office is at Ottawa and district offices are established in every province.

In an election in Watrousville, Cal., only six of the 1670 voters cast ballots.

The earth's envelope of air is now estimated to extend 300 miles above it.

SENATE PARTY LINES IGNORED

Closing Debate on Bill to Grant Free Tolls Through Canal to U. S. Ships

Passage of Measure is Predicted by Friends and Foes—Lodge Opposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Senate party lines were ignored in the closing debate today on the Borah bill to grant free tolls through the Panama canal to American coastwise vessels. A vote was set, under an agreement made several weeks ago for four o'clock with passage of the bill predicted by friends and foes.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican floor leader, was prominent among bi-partisan opponents of the measure. Effect of enactment of the legislation on the coming armament conference was discussed by Senator Lodge. He conceded that the United States had the right, under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, but said that right should not be exercised, "when there are compelling reasons against its exercise."

"The reasons against its exercise now, on the eve of an important international conference to which we have invited representatives of the great nations of the world are especially potent," he added. "This question concerns Great Britain primarily, but also all the other nations, for ships of all nations use the canal."

Senator Lodge urged abolition of the toll question and said this nation would have to agree to arbitration under its treaty with Great Britain, if that nation should request it. Senator Borah, republican, author of the bill, said he was inclined "to agree" but pointed out that former British Ambassador Bryce had said there was "nothing to arbitrate" over a tolls exemption to American coastwise ships.

Senator Cummins, republican, Iowa, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, supported the bill. Senator Williams, democrat, Mississippi, supported Senator Lodge's suggestion for arbitration.

A resolution offered by Senator King, democrat, Utah, as a substitute for the Borah bill, would authorize the president to negotiate with Great Britain for submission of the controversy to the Hague.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, elected democratic and republican national platform pledges for free tolls and said the democratic plank had been "broken."

Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota, opposing the Borah bill, said it would break a treaty and that national honor and respect required treaty observance above party considerations.

An Easy Way For Thin People to Put on Flesh and Gain Weight

Strong, Straightforward Advice to Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women.

If you are thin, scrawny and undeveloped, if your face is peaked and your cheeks and neck exhibit unsightly hollows, it is almost certain that your nervous system is at the bottom of the trouble. You can eat three, yes, four, substantial, fat producing meals a day but as long as your stomach has an insufficient supply of nerve force this food will pass out of the body with little if any benefit.

In order to assimilate properly the nourishing food you eat and convert it into healthy tissue and fat the nerves that control the process of digestion and assimilation must be put in first class shape and that is done by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

These pills are unequalled for repairing faulty digestion and correcting nervous digestive troubles. In fact, the makers of Evans' Triple Phosphates guarantee that one month's treatment will increase your weight by several pounds and within ten days make you feel like a new being, full of ambition, vigor and a desire to accomplish things. Fred Howard and leading druggists everywhere have agreed to supply Evans' Triple Phosphates and guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money refunded.

Cautious While Evans' Triple Phosphates accomplishes wonders in nervous digestive troubles and as a general nerve tonic, it should not be taken by anyone who objects to the addition of pounds of solid, stay-there flesh.—Adv.

AMENDMENTS TO TAX BILL

Repeal of Transportation Taxes and Maximum Sur-tax Rate of 50 P. C.

Retention of Corporation Capital Stock Tax Favored—Other Changes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Amendments to the tax bill proposing repeal of all transportation taxes, including those on oil by pipe line and on parcel post packages, a maximum surtax rate of 50 per cent, and increased estate taxes were approved today by majority members of the senate finance committee.

The majority also approved amendments for retention of the corporation capital stock tax and for repeal of the 2000 exemption allowed corporations in the case of corporations having annual net incomes in excess of $25,000.

A flat tax of $8.40 a gallon on distilled spirits also was agreed upon, but with a provision that there would be a rebate of $4.20 a gallon where it was shown to the satisfaction of the commissioner of internal revenue that the spirits were used for manufacturing or medicinal purposes.

Luxury taxes proposed for repeal under another amendment include the rates on sporting goods, chewing gum, electric fans, thermos bottles, smoking and hunting equipment, moving picture films, toilet soaps and powders, photographic apparatus, and accessories, furs and perfumes and cosmetics. The tax on works of art would be reduced from 10 to 5 per cent; the tax on candy made three per cent flat, and the additional taxes proposed on hotel rooms and office furniture of hard woods eliminated.

Officer Shot in Self Defense

room near the junction of Broadway and Dutton street, about two weeks ago. For this offense, a warrant had been issued and the police had been looking for him.

Story of Shooting
The fatal shooting of Sinasis occurred in the coffee house, owned by Christos Statos and John Jemos, at 51 Dummer street, shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night. The room was filled with men who were playing cards. An argument is said to have started among the players at one table at which among those seated was Sinasis. Words followed and, according to versions of the affair told the police, Sinasis drew a gun and threatened to shoot one of the men with whom he had been playing. The two proprietors immediately went to the spot where the gunman was standing and endeavored to take the gun away from him. They could not overcome him, however, and as some of the men fled out of the door, Sinasis, it is alleged, fired a shot at one of them. It did not take effect. Officer Keegan, in whose regular beat the coffee house is situated, was walking in the vicinity at the time. He saw the gunman, who still held the weapon in his hands, pointed the revolver at the policeman and told him he'd shoot him if he didn't leave the place and mind his own business.

Confronted with a serious situation, Officer Keegan whipped out his gun and again warned the gunman to drop his weapon or he'd shoot him. When the officer realized this Sinasis was still determined, he fired one shot which lodged itself in the gunman's right shoulder but failed to down him. As he noticed the mad-dened man make desperate efforts to pull the trigger, which evidently failed to work properly, Officer Keegan fired two more shots and Sinasis dropped, dying almost instantly.

Officer Keegan's hold in high esteem and regard by his superiors. He has been on the force more than 11 years and has an excellent record. Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith performed an autopsy on the body of Sinasis this morning, at the rooms of Undertaker C. H. Molloy's Sons on Market street.

Mrs. Rogers, who was one of Lowell's most prominent war workers, will resume her work at the Walter Reed hospital, where she has been one of the commanding figures in reconstruction work for the past four years. NEW CHARTER FEATURES

There is probably no feature of the proposed new charter that will be more popular than ward representation in the municipal council. Each ward will be required to elect a representative to the council. Thus nine of the places will be filled by the wards and six members will be elected at large. We can readily imagine that many young men will seek the nomination for ward commissioners. There isn't a ward in Lowell that could not furnish fully half a dozen men eminently capable of intelligently directing the city's business. This feature of the new city-indebted will bring the government closer to the people, and they will know the men for whom they vote. It will also open the door of opportunity to able men who under the present charter would never have any chance of election to public office.

It was indeed a surprise to most of our readers to find from Saturday's Sun that during the last ten years only fifteen men were elected as members of the municipal council, three of whom served as mayor. Moreover, it may be said, that every one of them, with the exception of Commissioner Salk, had been more or less identified with politics before entering the municipal council.

Perhaps what the majority of our citizens appreciate most highly in the new charter is the fact that the legislative and judicial functions of government are to be separated in accordance with long established custom. Under the present charter the municipal council is a legislative body and the commissioners are individually the administrative heads of the municipal departments. Thus two important government functions that should always be kept separate are vested in the same individuals.

The council of fifteen members will undoubtedly comprise a majority of men well qualified, to transact the city's business with sound judgment; and hence the interests of the city will no longer be committed to the judgment of three men, a very small number to pass upon important questions of business and finance.

The mayor will be the executive head of the government and will have the power to nominate the less important officials subject to the confirmation by the council. His removal of the heads of departments will also be subject to the approval of the council.

Provision has been made under which the heads of departments will all be experts in their respective lines; and it will be the function of the mayor to see that they do their duty and to hold them strictly responsible for results.

The board of public service which will have charge of the streets and highways, can lay out a plan of street improvements and develop the system gradually from year to year until we shall have as good streets as any city in the country.

The civil service nonsense will not apply to the street department under the new charter, for which there will be cause for celebration. The red tape of the civil service as now applied to street labor is farcical and a useless source of trouble and delay.

THE TAX AGREEMENT

It seems that the conflicting factions in the republican party in congress have agreed upon a plan of taxation which they believe will serve their purpose and avoid further delay in getting the measure enacted into law. It had been supposed that there would be a radical reduction in the unjust and oppressive surtaxes; but it appears that one faction of the party has succeeded in carrying the day for an increase in these taxes by which men who have a certain income, will have to turn over 50 per cent of it to the government. It is safe to say that those who will be taxed to this extent will not be likely to exert themselves very much in adding to their incomes or else they will charge the tax up to the consumer as part of the cost of production. This tax is not likely to help the industries of the country as in many respects, it may be regarded as a tax upon production. However, the administration has had to make the best of a bad matter in order to break the deadlock and get the machinery of congress moving again.

It had been expected that congress would adopt some plan of tax revision that would relieve the industries of the country from the war taxes that have been bearing down so heavily upon them. It seems that this hope has already vanished and all that the people can now expect is a little shifting of the burdens, a little juggling of figures but with a complete retention of the war tax system devised to meet the vast expenditures incurred by maintaining our army and navy in the operations of war.

This must be a serious disappointment to the country which expects an intelligent revision of the revenue system. There is actually no reduction of any importance. Even where provision has been made for the repeal of the excess profits tax the measure provides that it shall take effect on January 1 next instead of dating back to the beginning of the present year. That arrangement insures another year of an oppressive tax for the industries of the country, and this at a time when relief from such a burden is most imperative! The republicans are certainly making a mess of things in general.

THE SPECIAL ELECTION

Tomorrow the voters of this city will be expected to pass judgment upon the question of whether the city of Lowell should purchase the plant of the Lowell Gas Light company to be run hereafter as one of our municipal departments. The undertaking would entail an expense of perhaps $5,000,000 and that would be only the beginning of the undertaking. This is not a good time to embark in the purchase of gas plants or the manufacture of gas. We can fare better by having the companies already in business, manufacturing the gas for us and forcing them to sell it at a reasonable price.

The purchase of the Lowell Gas Light plant would be a piece of supreme foolishness at the present time. It would be a step towards municipal bankruptcy and one that would drive the tax rate up to perhaps $10 and increase rents throughout the city in like proportion.

We realize that there are many consumers of gas in this city who would like to give the gas company a bump; in fact, we feel that we ourselves, but it will not hurt the gas company in the slightest degree to vote in favor of purchasing their plant at tomorrow's special election.

Our advice is to let the gas company keep its plant by voting "no" on the question of purchase. The city will thereafter be free to take whatever steps may be necessary to compel the gas company to give the consumers a supply of genuine gas at the lowest possible price.

TO START BUSINESS

It appears that the things primarily needed to start up business all over this country are a revision downward in the internal revenue laws, the enactment of a protective tariff law and the solution of the railroad problem. Congress has thus far solved none of these problems and in its failure to do so, it is in a measure responsible for prolonging the business depression.

President Harding, however, gave his approval to a law under which the government is to loan $2,000,000,000 to the farmers of the United States and the dealers in farm products. That is the chief measure thus far enacted at the special session of congress for the purpose of restoring national prosperity. It is significant, however, that the agricultural interests of the nation have combined with the cotton planters under what is known as the Agricultural Bloc for the purpose of influencing congressional action in their favor. They have appealed to the American Federation of Labor to join them in this movement; but we surmise that the federation will not follow the fatal example of the Knights of Labor when Terence V. Powderly led them into the republican camp. We feel that Mr. Gompers is not likely to do anything so foolish.

There is much talk about financing our foreign markets, just as it is in order to secure foreign trade, we had to furnish the money to foreign buyers in order to induce them to purchase our goods. It is hardly credible that the foreign market representing seven per cent of our commerce should be rated as of greater importance than our domestic market representing 93 per cent of our business. Our industries, both agricultural and otherwise, must be duly protected against foreign competition; as otherwise the domestic market will be flooded with foreign goods which can be sold at a price much less than the cost of production in this country.

The necessity of protection against such competition has so impressed England that she is adopting a protective tariff contrary to her time-honored policy of free trade. That is another reason why adequate protection must be adopted against the cheap foreign products.

WAGES

The nation's manufacturing establishments last year employed 9,102,300 wage earners and produced $32,910,202,000 of goods, says a census summary.

That is, each wage earner produced products averaging $3600 in selling price. Those who get less pay will wonder where the difference went. Answer: Raw material, rents, taxes, depreciation, new equipment, overhead, cost of selling, and paying dividends on $14,573,911,000 capitalization of the manufacturing industries. First you work for money. Then money works for you—if you save and invest it.

DIVIDING THE DAY

If you work eight hours a day, that uses up the equivalent of 122 days a year. Sleeping eight hours a night uses up another 122 days. Sundays take 52 days. Then 20 days are devoted to eating. If your meals consume two hours a day. That leaves you 32 days for dressing, undressing, going to the movies, journeying to and from work, washing the car and doing odd jobs around home.

Pres. Jensen of Brigham Young college said in a talk on education at Logan: "The purpose of education is to get the child's mind to think. You can't do this by frightening the child. That is why I disapprove of stern, severe, bad-tempered teachers. A teacher of the latter sort had a visit one afternoon from the bishop of the diocese. The bishop, a genial soul, called before him a white-faced orphan who was very much cowed and depressed from an undeserved punishment he had received at the morning session. Little Eva in 1921

The birthday of the first of all the Little Evas has just been celebrated in Cambridge, Massachusetts. The scholarly Prof. Barrett Wendell, of that seat of learning, wrote in his history of American literature that a play made from Harriet Beecher Stowe's book was still—had been told—performed in country places. Professor Wendell, a brilliant and perceptive critic, was of a temper too aristocratic to appreciate the firm hold of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in play-form as in book-form on the public imagination. Dickens' Little Nell and Mrs. Stowe's Little Eva have become epic figures, taken to the heart and enshrined in the sentimental fancy of the people. It's of no avail to come along with highbrow language and tell the host of readers that they are raw-dust dolls. Don't you remember the first time you saw "Uncle Tom's Cabin"? Perhaps it was also the last—and yet for the two pivotal characters of the negro slave and the little white girl of his worshipful devotion there were scenes whose pathos only the hard-hearted and the sophisticated could resist. In fact, some versions of the play relieve the strain on the pocket book by introducing to the astonished spectator two Tonys and two of pretty nearly everybody in the cast except Uncle Tom and Little Eva. When the American public ceases to care for Stephen Foster's songs and no longer wants to hear of the plantation, then nobody will patronize the play or read the book. But until that time the blood-hounds will continue to chase Eliza across the ice and Simon Legree will jerk his whip till the gallery's blood runs cold.—Philadelphia Public Ledger

Observations of Pe Kok II.

(From the Chinese)
Two of the human race I know
Who are unlike
I honor them above their kind—
Their originality cheers me profoundly.

The first is a Man
Who never played tennis till last week.
I watched him pick up a racket for the first time;
I watched him as he carried it to the courts;
I watched him as he awaited his turn to play;
And never once
Did he hold it to his breast
And clutch upon it.
Pretexting it was a lute.

The second is a Boy
Who is about to join the Scouts.
I went into the woods with him,
And he carried a hatchet.
And not once
Did he throw that hatchet at a tree!

The Man will be a great Player.
The Boy will be a great Scout.
I honor them.

—Ted Robinson in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Park workmen are busy again on the Shedd playgrounds in the vicinity of the street car line that runs to the Oakland district. I had visions of a country fair playing match Friday when I passed the playground and witnessed two plowing teams at work side by side, cutting great furrows in the sides of a sand hill. The work will include a great deal of leveling. I am told, and when completed in a few years to come, will make a notable improvement in this popular playground area.

When Lewis Clark, horseman and hardware man on Middlesex street, ever wants to quit the mercantile field he will have no trouble keeping his backbones filled up on the "deposit" side by traveling right back to the old farm. For yesterday I learned something about Mr. Clark that I never knew before. He can grow corn even through the barriers of the city walls and the dry seasons, even through him. As I was about to board a train for the Acton fair, Mr. Clark was seen with a package of yellow corn in the ears, package being marked in proper fashion. I then invited him to send the corn to the fair exhibit tables. He agreed to let it go. The farmers were greatly interested in the display, and later Mr. Clark explained why he thought so much of his home product.

It seems that this corn is a field variety, with extra long ears and bright yellow. The kernels are very large and the cobs very small, some of them being no larger than carpen-

Berton Braley's Daily Poem The Lesson

My last silk shirt is all worn out
And so is my velvet silk box,
And it's back to cotton for me, no doubt.
For I'm stranded upon the rocks;
My wife's fur coat is in pawn, I guess
And her shoes with the high French heels
Have gone the way of her satin dress,
And we're scrimp'ing upon our bread.

"Well, you should have saved your cash," says I.
"And maybe I should," says I;
But say, when some of your hopes come true,
And four wages for once, will buy a few of the luxuries of earth,
The things you have helped to make,
You'll give them to your money's worth.

You'll get them—and no mistake!
I've had to struggle through all my life.
Just makin' the two ends meet,
Just gettin' clothes for the kids and
And a place to sleep and eat;
So when my wages begun to climb
I splurged—and I guess you would
If you'd waited the chance for as long a time.

I splurged—and it sure was good!
I'm back to the old hard lines again,
But I'm sure on the guys who say
"Silk shirts ain't proper for workin' men."
Say, how do you get that way?
I'm a human being like you, I guess,
And when things pick up, you'll see
My wife's toggled out in a new silk dress
And a new silk shirt for me!

(Copyright, 1921, The Lowell Sun)

Mr. Clark told me the corn was not generally found on the "Longfellow" being a cross between the well-known yellow Canadian Longfellow and the old-fashioned Longfellow corn. The cross variety is a quick grower, maturing in from 90 to 100 days. The Clark exhibit at the Acton fair was one of the features of the long tables of the farmers' section.

While climbing one of the hills in the Oakland section of the city Friday, I ran across a gang of city workmen hard at work laying a stretch of new 12-inch water pipes. Shepard at the present time, is not very long, but very steep, and the work is arduous. The men are taking up the old 6-inch pipes which furnished inadequate fire protection. The larger flow through the 12-inch mains is expected to prove a blessing to the hill-folks in the Hollywood avenue section.

Another field corn story came to the Man About Town Saturday when he stopped for information at the store of E. and E. Prescott, 27 Laurel street. A large ear of golden corn was on display on a glass case in the center of the store. I learned from the young lady dispensing groceries that it was from the T. C. J. Prescott farm in Andover. It is one of the largest ears of corn found in that section this year, and will be given away. I was told, to the person guessing the nearest to the number of kernels on the cob.

Have you forgotten the old-time hitchhiker posts that every old-time Lorellite of prominence always had in front of his house, on the edge of the curb—? There are not many left in some sections of the city, but I ran across two on Friday up on Nesmith street near Oak, that were curiously interesting indeed. They stand some eight feet apart and about four feet high on the edge of the gutter. They are of cast iron, painted black and equipped with rings that swing in every wind that blows and dangle queer tunes on the hollow posts. The latter are well designed. About a foot from the ground each post bears four odd-looking heads arranged in a circle. They are hard to clearly distinguish but they are there, foreheads, ugly eyes and bulbous noses, with mouths half-grinned. I could not learn where they were manufactured, but they have been there for years, I am told. The eight faces on the two posts make one think of the terrifying gargoyles that decorate some of the cheap theatres over in Europe. Doubtless who had an opportunity to tour France after the war will remember some of these monstrous pieces of carving—images that startle wandering Americans when they see them on structures of great age, history and legend.

The shop of J. J. Donnelly of Lenton court is a favorite meeting place for local horsemen, several of whom were in Friday getting crack trotters ready for the Columbus day races. Horseman Orcutt had a good one with shiny new shoes on—shoes of the baby variety, so small are the animal's feet. Humphrey, another crack fellow, was also present with a fine looking race horse that will be on hand for the coming events. Donnelly is a member of the club, but plays no favorites. He is popular with those who like the half-mile game.

ILLITERACY IN LOWELL

Census Report 6,231 Over Ten Years of Age—Over 8 P. C. of Adults Illiterate

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—The population of Lowell, Mass., as enumerated in January, 1920, there were 6,231 persons 10 years of age and over who were illiterate in the sense of being unable to write. Of this total 6,500 are foreign-born whites. The percentage of illiteracy in the total population 10 years of age and over is 6.5, which shows a slight increase since 1910 when it was 5.0. For the native white the percentage is 0.5, and for the foreign-born white, 15.9. That the young generation in this city is much less illiterate than the older, is indicated by the fact that while 8.3 per cent of the males and 8.9 per cent of the females 21 years of age and over the illiterate, the percentage of illiteracy in the population 16 to 20 years of age is but 2.0.

SECURITY OF FRANCE MUST BE GUARANTEED

ST. NAZAIRE, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—"France must remain armed as long as her security has not been assured," was the statement made yesterday by Premier Briand in an address outlining the French government's foreign policy.

M. Briand was surrounded by six of the ministers of his cabinet and four under secretaries. He declared that at the present moment the French premier needs to have full authority to deal with all questions with which he treats in the realm of world interest.

"My voice must carry high and far," he said. "Tomorrow, beyond the seas, we are invited to examine into certain problems. I have had the honor to reply 'present' to that invitation. We shall go to Washington, first, in order to fulfill a duty to gratitude and to see in their home those noble and brave soldiers whom we have seen in France. We will go also to accomplish a duty toward France.

"France must remain armed as long as her security has not been assured. France has earned the right to reparations and security. At no time shall the French government yield on those points. I will refute the accusations of imperialism which have been made against France. Our allies know that we demand our rights—nothing more. Tomorrow at Washington I will prove to the Americans that France wants peace.

"We will discuss the great problems of the day coolly and impartially. If guarantees of security are granted France, she will be among the first nations to enter into the policy of disarmament for France leaves war and imperialism.

"This government has confidence in the government of Dr. Wirth (the German chancellor). The undertakings entered upon by the present German government have been fulfilled. France's attitude in these difficult moments: 'No aggressiveness, but no timidity.'"

M. Briand touched lightly during his speech on the critics of the Versailles treaty and its execution by his government, saying a new instrument had been placed in his hand and he had used it to the best possible purpose, but that he shunned political controversies and would not enter into any of them. In concluding, the premier said:

"The country must weather these stormy days by the strength of its labor and work in developing its wealth and resources."

Russia To Throw Oil On Market

MOSCOW, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The commissariat for foreign trade has decided to throw on the local market, all the kerosene oil allotted for export and also to organize an export base in Riga, Latvia, for naphtha products. The announced purpose of this decision is to avoid control of these products by a western European syndicate which the commissariat alleges, offered only one-seventh of their value for them.

FOR A CONSTIPATED CHILD

A small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring quick relief.
MOTHER, when one of the children is constipated are you going to give the first laxative within reach? It is dangerous to do so. Some have been known to rupture the intestines of little children. Don't be beguiled by the outside sugary appearance. Look into the formula. Calomel is seldom necessary; salts, minerals, coal tar, never! Unlike these, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is admirable for children, as it is for grown people, too. Mothers have been giving it to children for 30 years. They know it does not gripe, and is free from narcotics. The formula is on every package, and you can see it is vegetable, just a combination of Egyptian Senna and other laxative herbs with pepsin. Use it yourself and you will find it is not necessary to take it every day, nor to increase the dose, and that it is pleasant to the taste. Bottles can be had at all drug stores, and the cost is only about a cent a dose. Have no hesitancy giving it to a baby in arms. It is absolutely safe.
Half-Ounce Bottle Free
Few people are constipated, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment for me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, Jr., Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write me today.

C. HAROLD WILLS, BUILDER OF THE MODEL CITY OF MARYVILLE, AND THE MARYVILLE BANK. THIS PICTURE WAS TAKEN ON A PAYDAY, AND SHOWS MARYVILLE CITIZENS WAITING IN LINE TO DEPOSIT THEIR SAVINGS.

(By N.E.A. Service)
MARYVILLE, Oct. 7.—C. Harold Wills, multi-millionaire, dynamic dreamer, master machinist and expert metallurgist, who quit a job paying him more than $2,000,000 a year to build the "model city of America," is proving his clear-sighted vision.

Fifty-five miles north of Detroit is Maryville. In October, 1919, it was a mere river hamlet of 200 inhabitants. Today there are more than 3000 residents, five prosperous industries employing nearly 2000 men, and new citizens rushing in so fast it is impossible to build homes rapidly enough for them.

There, two years ago only a few cozy houses nestled as if snuggling along the St. Clair river, today there is a city in the making with paved streets, slightly homes with every modern improvement, up-to-date school-houses, a bank, postoffice, civic recreation hall, Y.M.C.A., board of commerce, municipal orchestra, moving pictures and everything that tends to develop the best in its citizens.

The little bank, capitalized at $100,000, has deposits of $500,000.

Metropolitan Police
The police department, clad in regulation metropolitan uniform, is on the job—but there is no jail. There is no need for one. The police keep busy acting as traffic officers.

Two additional industries, one employing 1200 men, have purchased 10 and 25 acres of land for factory sites. Several others are negotiating.

Where once the rural fisherman whiffed away the days with pole and line, is being built a big steamship dock.

The village is well situated so far as transportation facilities are concerned, being served by a railroad, interurban and two Great Lakes steamship lines. The interurban tracks are to be moved at a cost of $1,000,000 so as to run through the main street.

Where the old village was, is now the factory district. Houses that have not been moved already will be picked up and taken to the new residential district, or torn down.

Result of Vision
Back of all this Utopian development is the story of one man with a vision and ceaseless ambition whose code, he says, is to make a man happy in his home, his work, and his play.

"Accomplish these three things and a man will stick," he says.

At 12 years of age Wills was a machinist apprentice. At 40 he had worked himself up, through and out of his trade. From 1903 to 1919 he was in charge of production for Henry Ford. And Ford was paying Wills what is said to have been the biggest salary in history.

However, with a fortune said to have totalled more than $4,000,000, Wills threw up his job. He set out to build an automobile according to his own ideas in a city built according to his ideas.

City Toiling Hard
Every citizen of Maryville is so enthusiastic and backs Wills so thoroughly that they're working seven days a week and 12 to 14 hours every day to help him achieve his goal.

Wills originated the idea, and his money has made it possible to go ahead with his plans. He easily could have been a virtual dictator of the city. But he has, with the help of another former Ford lieutenant, John R. Lee, built up such a co-operative organization, and put things so much in the hands of those living there that there is no friction.

A commission form of municipal government was organized with a manager directing its business affairs. W. H. Watkins, manager of the Detroit Tigers when they won their first pennant, is village president.

SAYS SHE HAD TO STAY UP ALL NIGHT

MRS. DAMIANO OFTEN HAD INDIGESTION—SO BAD SHE COULDN'T LAY DOWN—NOW RESTORED

"If anybody could know just exactly how I suffered, and just how well I feel now, they could readily understand why I'm so thankful to Tangle," said Mrs. Peter Damiano, Postoffice Box 644, Lenox, Mass.

"For about two years I was almost helpless, for it seemed that everything was the matter with my stomach and it got so bad when I lay down and then it seemed that I had no strength at all. I could hardly eat anything, no heavy food at all, and in spite of that my face in the morning often suffered so from indigestion I just had to stay up all night long in perfect agony from those fearful cramps. Often my food spoiled and caused gas which made me all up and affected my heart so much I often thought it would stop beating. My tongue was badly coated, I always had a mean taste in my mouth, and very often I had headaches and dizzy spells that almost drove me distracted."

"A friend of my husband told him about Tangle, and right after he brought home my first bottle. I noticed my appetite had a new start and I was feeling better. I've taken five bottles now and have already gained twelve pounds in weight and am still gaining. I'm eating most anything I want, and my stomach trouble seems entirely gone. I never have a headache or dizzy spell and feel strong and well all the time. I just can't say enough in praise of Tangle."

Tangle and Tangle Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tangle representative, by Wright Drug Co., Haverhill, Mass.; A. D. Lee, Lowell, Mass.; Shaw's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

RUN DOWN 40 MILLION DOLLAR PLOT
BUDAPEST, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—A gang of forgers who planned to flood $10,000,000 of counterfeit American currency in the states of central Europe have been arrested here.

The counterfeiters specialized in a 20-dollar bill, several hundred of which had been circulated. The forgeries were detected through the fact that all the bills bore identical numbers and the additional fact that the paper on which they were printed had more than the normal quantity of silk threads. The bills were said to be remarkably close to perfection in execution.

Members of the gang had 5000 of the completed bills when they were arrested and materials enough to print a total of two million bills.

They are believed to have had accomplices among the Budapest police and to have had agents in Bulgaria, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Rumania. The police believe a large quantity of the forged bank notes were sent to Belgrade and Sofia.

BRITISH IGNORE NOTES

Pershing Abandons Plans to Go to London to Decorate Grave of Unknown Tommy

PARIS, Oct. 10. (By the Associated Press.)—Gen. Pershing will not go to London to receive the congressional medal on the tomb of the British unknown soldier in Westminster abbey and if the ceremony is held another American officer will be designated to represent the United States.

This announcement came last night from a most authoritative source. Lack of time available for the trip between now and October when Gen. Pershing sails for home, is the official explanation for his decision to abandon his visit to England. It is learned, however, that failure of the British war office to either fix a date for the ceremony or to make late Saturday, to give any explanation for the delay, has deterred inquiries from the American embassy officials is the chief reason for Gen. Pershing's decision.

Gen. Pershing came to Europe for the purpose of laying the congressional medal of honor on the tomb of the British unknown soldier. The Washington government early in August, and again when he sailed, so far as can be learned, no answer was received to either communication which asked that a date be fixed for the ceremony and that the general be informed.

Since his arrival in Paris further inquiries have been made at the British foreign office through the medium of the American embassies in London and Paris. One of these inquiries developed the explanation that such ceremonies usually took a long time to arrange.

The specially trained battalion from the American forces on the Rhine which acted as a guard of honor at the Paris ceremony and which was to have proceeded to London returned to Coblenz yesterday after having been held a week in Paris awaiting word from the British foreign office.

It is known that American officials in Paris as well as Gen. Pershing and his party, have been mystified by the silence of the British government and the matter has caused much embarrassment to the general. He has been besieged with invitations to dinner and official functions and the uncertainty of the London arrangements made it difficult to reply to many of these. Some military men have advanced the explanation that the rule not permitting British officers and men to accept foreign decorations might be the cause of the situation; they further suggested that the British might want to arrange to confer a decoration similar in importance on America's unknown soldier before accepting the congressional medal.

On the other hand it is pointed out that the fact that the medals were conferred by an act of congress on behalf of the American people should place the decoration in a special category, where ordinary rules and precedents do not apply.

American officials in Paris are much concerned over the matter, and fear expressed that the medals will be conferred by an act of congress on behalf of the American people should place the decoration in a special category, where ordinary rules and precedents do not apply.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Bishop Delany Assembly Receive Communion in a Body at St. Michael's

The Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of the Bishop Delany Assembly attended the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church Sunday, and received communion in a body. The highest number in the history of the organization was present.

At 7:30 the Sir Knights, led by Faithful Navigator William H. Gallagher and the other officers of the organization, marched from the council rooms in Associate Bldg. to the church. Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor, celebrated the mass. The communion was given by Rev. Francis G. Mullin, faithful prior of the assembly. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Fr. Shaw. He complimented the knights on their excellent showing and their splendid exposition of the Catholic faith.

Special selections were given by the Knights of Columbus quartet, directed by William F. Thornton, during the mass. Edward F. Slattery, Daniel S. O'Brien and Thomas Tobin gave solos. The final selection, the "Hymn to the Holy Name," was sung by the choir as the knights were leaving the church.

The members of the assembly returned to the council rooms after the mass and a communion breakfast was enjoyed. After the breakfast a program of speech-making and entertainment, over which Faithful Navigator Gallagher presided, was carried out. Mr. Gallagher gave a forceful talk on the principles of the fourth degree, pointed out the patriotic and educational motives of the organization. He urged the Sir Knights to continue their good work as members of the order.

Rev. Fr. Mullin gave a brief talk on the excellent showing of the assembly members, and explained the movement now being taken up by the supreme assembly of the fourth degree, whereby all authentic information gathered by the order will be turned over to the writers of a new History of the United States. Father Mullin pointed out the part which the Knights of Columbus will have in this work.

Plans selections during the breakfast were given by Charles P. Miner, chorus singing and solos being given by Patrick Nevas, Edward F. Slattery and Thomas Tobin.

It was announced that on Columbus day, the assembly would accompany the Lowell council to St. Peter's church in the morning and later to Haverhill. The annual election of officers of the assembly is to be held a week from next Thursday.

A committee headed by Thomas B. Delaney was in charge of the arrangements for yesterday's program.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—At last accessibility has been introduced into traveling articles.

How many women have been distracted by the necessity of unlocking toilet cases or handbags or suit cases and rummaging for their mirrors or stationery or pencils.

The "Accessible" is the very latest thing for women in traveling. All the comforts of home are condensed into 16-inch, black cobra, "overnight" bags with outside compartments.

In this outside envelope there is a place for stationery, pencil, loop for fountain pen, attached purse and mirror flap, with lock and keys.

All these conveniences are handy and there is no necessity of disturbing the contents of the bag.

Men, too, have been considered in the season's traveling innovations. The "suit-case portfolio" is an entirely new "overnight" bag. There is the case for wearing apparel and extension pockets for papers and documents.

It comes in tan and black-grained hide and has straps fastening a top handle and a strong lock. It is only 16 inches long.

FIFTH GAME OF SERIES

Giants and Yankees on Even Terms at 2 All When Today's Game Began

Giants Jumped on Mays in Eighth Yesterday and Broke up Game

Douglas Pitched Fine Game—Ruth Got Homer in Ninth With None On

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—On even terms again, Yankees and Giants meet today in the fifth game of the world's series and may close to try for the edge with the hurlers they used in the sec-

two games. He appeared weak in the opening contest, but seems to have found himself again, both behind the plate and at the bat. Schang, his Yankee opponent, still is going at high speed. His long hit in yesterday's game scored the first Yankee run and it looked like a winner until Emil Meusel tore into one of Mays' floaters for a triple in the eighth.

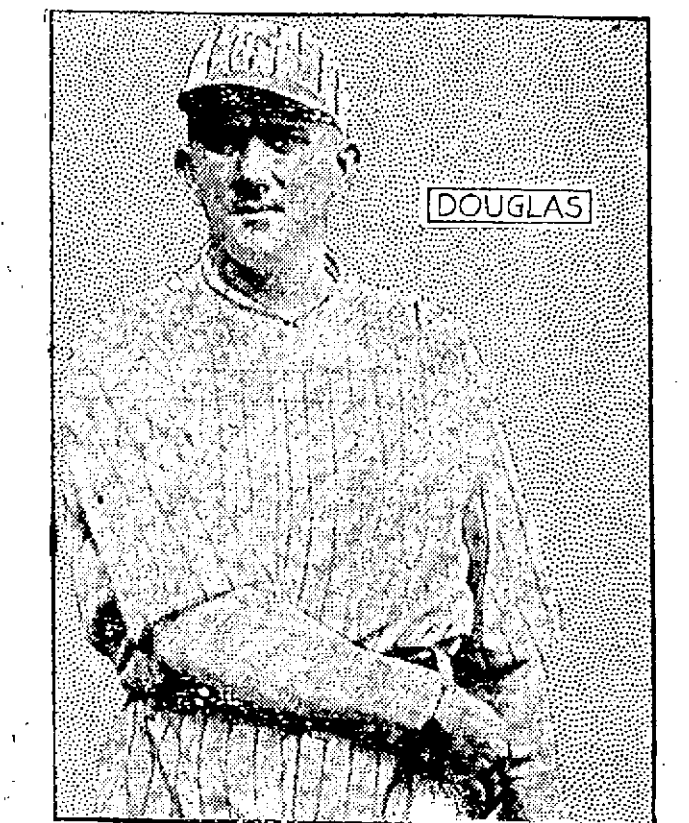

While yesterday's game lacked any of the sensational thrills that has marked the others it was an interesting one to watch. There was Mays' hurling hitless ball for five innings, and Phil Douglas keeping his hits well scattered in the meantime. In those five innings Mays forced the Giants to roll away tops to the infielders, only three balls going to the outfield.

Douglas pitched a great game. He did not issue a pass, and he struck out eight men, getting the mighty Babe once, and every other man on the American league team except Peckinpaugh and Mays at least once. He pitched a perfect game, his first since he was a rookie, and that was all.

The Giants' hitting in the eighth yesterday was sensational. "Irish" Neusel led off with a triple, Rawlings sliced a single to right, Snyder bled out a punt past Mays. Douglas, sacrificed. George Burns doubled and Mays was a bungle man.

Peckinpaugh made the first error of the series for the Yankees in the third inning when he lost Snyder's grass cutter on a bad bound. Peck's error was due in a measure to McNally's unsuccessful attempt to speak the ball.

Aaron Ward carried on his perfect work at second for the Yankees, accepting nine chances without an error. Ruth's homer in the ninth sailed long and true to the right field bleachers and was the one bright spot in the fading hopes of the Yankee rooters.

and contest—Walter Hoyt for the Americans and Artie Nehf for the Nationals. The Giants rallied to a hitting spree, underhanding Carl Mays yesterday while "Shufflin'" Phil Douglas on his freshest curves and won a second game, 4 to 2.

Hoyt, the Brooklyn youth who shut out the Giants in the second meeting of the series, allowing but two hits, a scratch, appears to be Huggins' hope to put the Yankees in front again. Giant pitchers decline he cannot possibly maintain the hurling pace he set on last Thursday, while the

The Babe's feat was given a noisy hand, but while it enabled Babe to realize an ambition it didn't satisfy him nearly so much as it had scored two runners ahead of him.

GIANT OUTFIELDER WHO AGAIN STARRING AT BAT

Giants, themselves, vow they'll pumme! the shoots of any pitcher Huggins sends to the rubber.

There has been a lot of talk about the Giants' lost and found batting eyes—now the Yankees are having their say. The Yankee made runs out of lucky hits and great base running in the first two games, but they were helpless in the hands of Jess Barnes on Friday and Phil Douglas yesterday. Now they're sore, and assert they will pound Nehf, or any other moundman McGraw sends against them.

"My team hasn't batted anywhere close to form," declared Miller Huggins. "It is improbable that they will go through the entire series without going several batting rambages. You can look for one at any time now."

Ruth's injured arm did not keep him from playing and making his first home run of the series yesterday, and he is almost certain to play as long as he is needed. The presence of the Babe in the game means much to the Yankees in a psychological sense as it does in any other way. He is in there with his head and his reputation even when his arms are weak.

Snyder's work behind the bat for the Giants had been impressive in the last side their clubhouse. They would like to dodge out a rear door to the streets and sneak home by alley routes, but the rub is that there is only one exit from each clubhouse.

"Gee, look at that crowd out there," exclaimed modest Frank Frisch yesterday as he peeped out of the Giants' stronghold.

"Oh, go on out, what are you afraid of?" Frisch teased and then made a wild dash for freedom. He made it only after his clothes had nearly been torn off him.

A minute later, Douglas looked out. He turned back to wait until the crowd became thinner. But the crowd refused to disperse, despite the efforts of a score of private policemen.

"Oh, go ahead," smiled Burns to Douglas. "Shufflin' Phil waited until Burns was ready and they made a hurried exit together. One fan insisted that the victorious pitcher autograph a score card. With the crowd around him Douglas' signature resembled a doctor's chart of a patient's temperature.

The Giants are playing "feast or famine" baseball in the title series with the Yankees. In the first two games they were blanketed with few hits. In the third contest they made 13 runs on 20 hits and yesterday they made four of their nine hits and three of their four runs all in one inning.

One fan sitting in the Yankee dugout fainted when he was hit on the foot by a foul tip during practice. He refused two attendants who tried to lead him out after he had recovered, declaring he had paid to see a world series game and intended to get his money's worth.

Pipp and Kelly, rival first basemen, made their first hits of the series. Pipp's was a single and Kelly's a double. Both agreed their hits would be as good as sulphur and molasses for them.

J. F. KELLY'S THEATRE

Wednesday being Columbus day and, therefore, a legal holiday, three performances will be given at the J. F. Kelly theatre, the first at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, the second at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, and the third and last beginning at 8:45 o'clock. Tickets for the first performance can be obtained in advance at the theatre box office.

The week's bill shapes up exceedingly well, being headed by those undoubted Lowell favorites, Claud and Fannie Lauer, in the best sketch they have ever had, "The Little Wife at Home." It is not a new sketch, but it is one of the homely, heartsome pieces that strikes everybody as being right and honest and well played. Claud Lauer as the irascible little Irishman, who has a mighty warm heart, and Fannie as the wait who doesn't always know etiquette but who is 100 per cent right, make an irresistible pair. Let it be said that there is no better drawing card in the sketch line in all vaudivillian than as a rule to this fact that the Lauer's are personally very popular here, and you have a comedy that is equal.

A couple of years ago there appeared here J. Kohn Brennen and Jimmie Rule, and the success these two achieved through the singing of their own songs was quite wonderful. Not only do they present numbers which hold the popular ring to them but they offer them in a way which is convincing in the extreme. It would be hard to say which of the two men is the more flexible, but it is at the piano throughout the act, although he sings with Brennen. Their numbers have been jointly produced and they are jointly played.

"Her Bashful Home," which Frank Gilmore and Edna Gilmore will present, is a side-splitting comedy all the way through, and a very good making love to the sophisticated young woman gives scenes which for their merit would be hard to best.

Jack Layler is a monologist, who starts his work at juggling, and then declares that it is the most important of the impromptu kind, but it is filled with riotous killing. Klutznick's Entertainers are dogs, cats, pigeons, rabbits, and a host of other animals, and they are very well trained. Lou Reed and Al Tucker are down for "Full o' Pep," a mixture of several things, and Bert and Walter sing and dance. Then there are the screen features, "Topics of the Day," Acropolis, Fabrics, Pathe News and a Travlog.

THE STRAND

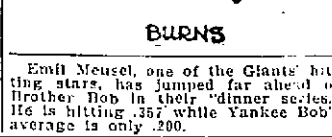

The program as arranged for the Strand for the first three days of the week, starting with matinees today, will have Earle Williams in "The Silver Car," a melodrama of unusual and timely interest. It is based on a popular novel of the day which deals with great international problems. A chilling love story is interwoven in a tangle of diplomacy and intrigue. The people of the story furnish ample scope for beautiful scenic backgrounds, especially those laid in the central castle of Count Michael. Tennessee in countless mountain vistas and broad expanses of rolling landscape are the background for exciting dramatic action. Williams has a role somewhat different from anything in which he has appeared before and in which he will prove more popular than ever. He plays the part of a secret agent endeavoring to secure a treaty in order to prevent exposure of a member of the cabinet.

"Danger Ahead," with the famous beauty, Mary Philbin, is a spectacularly dramatic offering. Plots and counter-plots, intrigue and queer situations, sometimes tragic and sometimes containing comedy touches, are tangled in a cross-purpose love affair. Life as it is lived in "down east" villages is excellently portrayed.

The same high grade comedy and International Weekly are other contributions of a superior motion picture offering.

new production, "Trust Your Wife." It is a picture peculiarly suited to her exceptional talents and carries a very clever plot of a wife who made mental sacrifices to save a bluffing husband. The program also carries a strong feature, "Problem Eternal," a ripping comedy and a snappy set of up-to-date klutznicks. Don't fail to see it.

OPERA HOUSE

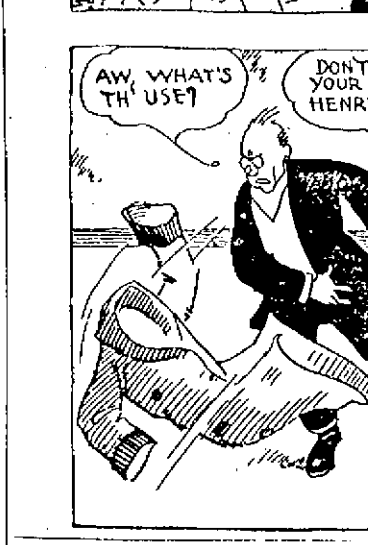

Tonight begins the week's engagement of Eugene Walter's stage version of John Fox, Jr.'s great story, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," by the Lowell Players at the Opera House and, judging from present indications, the offering will prove one of the strongest and most satisfactory presentations of the season. The piece is filled with the delightful characters, such as the mayor and the suitor, who are such stirring characters in the story. Great as the book was, and there can be no question on this score, the play is even better. When originally presented, the play was a tremendous hit. It has since been played before hundreds of thousands in cities all over the country. It was not, however, until recently that it was released for stock use and Owner Schacke was one of the first to secure it. The Lowell Players are especially well equipped to present the piece. Mr. Howard, the leading man of the company, and all of the other members are ideal for the various assignments made, and their combined efforts will surely bring satisfactory results. There is not a single role in the entire cast of characters that does not offer the actor engaged in the portrayal, to indicate some unusual ability. The comedy part, in particular, is splendid. If you have not already seen the piece, you should do so at once. The advance sale carries with it the assurance of large crowds at all performances, so it would be well to make reservations as quickly as possible. The better way to assure yourself of your favorite seats is to place your name on the subscription list. It costs no more and it gives better service for every one concerned. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Great Impersonation," one of the greatest screen productions ever made by George Melford, the noted Paramount producer, is the feature attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre during the first half of the week. It is a story of intrigue and international conspiracy and contains some new and most extraordinary situations. It has as its setting the period just before this country entered the world war. The photoplay is interpreted by some of the screen's best players, among them James Kirkwood and Ann Forrest. The other big feature for the first half of the week is "Dangerous Lies," another Paramount, featuring David Powell.

William DeMille Proves Mild Manners in Movies Are Effective

CHARLES OGLE. HE'S A VETERAN CHARACTER ACTOR WHO IS APT TO STEAL THE THUNDER OF THE STARS IN "AFTER THE SHOW."

JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A quality of acting evidenced in most of the first-class stage plays and, sad to relate, in very few screen plays is manifested in "After the Show." That quality is restrained expression of emotion. Wild gesticulating, pulling of the hair, clenching of fists and such violent means are usually employed in movies to express the emotion which is conveyed largely by the voice on the stage.

Not so in "After the Show." The story is an ordinary one, no better than hundreds of other stories which have been screened, but the manner of acting by Charles Ogle, Jack Holt and Lila Lee gives it merit. Credit for this prob-

DeMille didn't order a close-up to show the old man's anguish. (That, despite the fact that Charles Ogle has one of the most expressive faces in the movies.)

The old man went out to that house party. Yessir, right into the room where all the hilarity was going on. He made the girl face him and the young fellow together and decide between them.

And she chose the young man and the "love of desire." Here came the only explosive moment of the picture. The old man broke a wine bottle and plunged its jagged edge into his wrist. The girl had told him that if he ever needed her she would come from the end of the world. The young fellow gave his blood to the old man after the girl had offered hers. The transfusion saved the old man's life.

All's well that ends well. The young fellow really loved the girl. He told her he wasn't fit to live and the girl said the same thing about herself—and so they were married and were happy. That made the old man very happy. The fade-out of the old man registering his joy in the happiness of the girl is one of the best bits of facial acting yet given to the screen.

Charles Ogle was the old man. That accounts for that fine bit of acting. William DeMille proved one thing in "After the Show"—and that is—the much overworked close-up is not needed to make a scene effective.

Ernest Truax, who is one of New York's biggest comedy hits in "Six Cylinder Love," is making three more reel comedies for Pathe. Their titles are: "The Bashful Bachelor," "Clock Around," and "Little, But, Oh My!" The last is quite apropos, for Truax is hip-pocket size.

POLICE WORKING ON BIG LIQUOR THEFT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Washington police were co-operating with Virginia authorities and private detectives in an effort to trace wines and liquors, said to be worth $300,000, which were stolen from the country home, near here, of Joseph Leiter. The theft, it has become known, was committed a week ago yesterday, and the authorities have been quietly working on the case since, apparently without results.

Police here said they believed it was the largest theft of private stock of liquors since prohibition went into effect.

Using an acetylene torch, the robbers, during the absence of the estate caretaker, bored through the three-inch steel door of the wine cellar. Hundreds of cases of liquors and wines, the police were informed, were removed and hauled away in trucks.

The Leiter estate is situated in Virginia, about four miles from the District of Columbia line and about a mile off the Leesburg pike. The caretaker was the only one living on the estate at the time of the robbery.

BOY REPORTED DROWNED TURNS UP SAFE

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—John Manning, 19-year-old son of Michael J. Manning, appeared at police headquarters here yesterday to establish the fact that he was not drowned in Dorchester bay Saturday night. The father's report that the son had met death when he jumped out of a small boat offshore after the two had quarreled had set the police searching for the body. The son said he swam from the boat to a fishing schooner, aboard which he spent the night.

The elder Manning's story to the police was that following a scuffle he fell exhausted and the son leaped into the sea. The father said he tried to follow in the boat, but lost sight of the boy.

"AFTER YEAR'S ILLNESS, HEALTH—FROM INTERNAL BATHS"

Mr. W. W. Williams of 230 South Welles St., Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute of New York:

"My condition is very much improved and I have just started to work after being home for one year. I hope I may continue to improve by the use of your wonderful Cascade."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

"Thousands testify that Constipation, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Biliousness, Headaches and all the many serious troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and preceged by this Nature Treatment."

Liggett's, 67-69 Merrimack street and Central, cor. Merrimack street, will gladly explain to you the simple operation of the "J. B. L. Cascade," why it is so certain in its results, and will give you free of cost, an interesting little book containing the results of the experiences of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who was a specialist on intestinal complaints for 25 years in that city. Why not get this out as a reminder to get this book as soon as possible. Remember, please, it is free.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. "Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels."

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

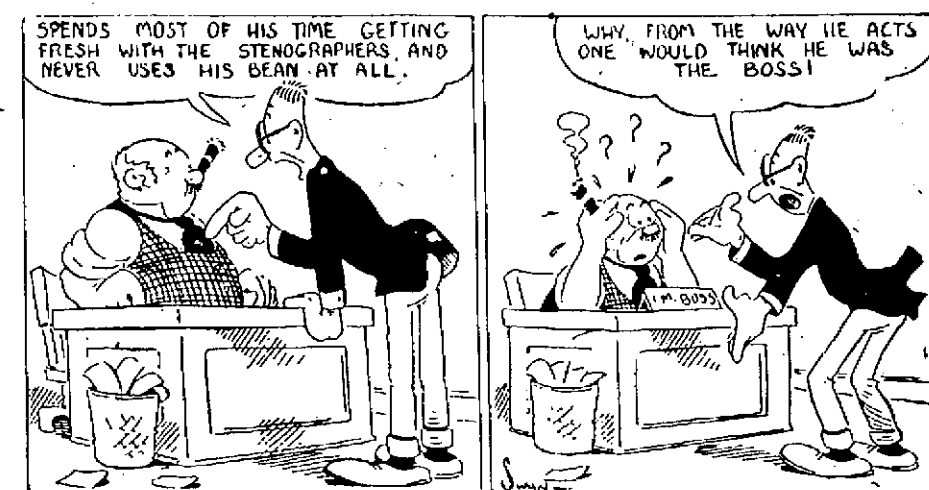

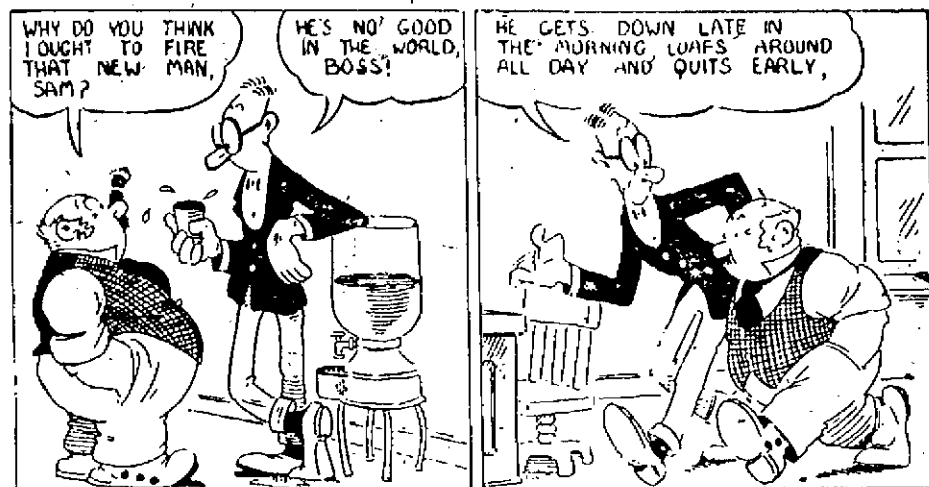

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like, 15c and 30c.

BUT ONE REFERENDUM ON GAS QUESTIONLegal Authority Says Law Permits
No Second Vote By People On
Purchase of Gas Plant

A high legal authority notifies The Sun that a widespread misapprehension prevails as to the legal consequence of an affirmative vote by the public on the gas question at tomorrow's special election. The Sun was led to believe that the law, which apparently is very complicated in its application to this question, provided for an affirmative vote in two consecutive years and then a ratification by the legislature. A prominent legal authority assures us that there is nothing anywhere in the statutes or in the city charter that authorizes a second referendum following an affirmative vote on the purchase of the gas plant by the electorate.

The municipal lighting law of the state has been modified repeatedly in recent years and according to this legal authority, it now definitely provides for only one referendum, by the voters. Our present charter with its referendum provisions has complicated the problem but this charter, according to the legal authority quoted, distinctly provides for but one action by the voters, just as the recent vote on contract labor was the one and only vote that can be legally taken on that question.

Similarly the vote on the new charter next week will be the one, only and final vote which the public can cast.

Before Lowell adopted its present charter the municipal lighting law stipulated that no city could engage in municipal lighting until its city council had voted in favor of purchasing the plant in two consecutive years and until this action had been ratified by a majority of the

The late Col. Colt terminated his last will, with the paragraph that follows. It's worth one's time to read and then ponder:

"I desire to impress upon my children and other relatives remembered under this last will, that they shall not speculate in any manner with the funds given them hereunder. Speculation, besides unbecoming one for regular occupations, does not pay and is almost certain to end in disaster. Money well invested with an average yield of say 5 percent, will accumulate fast enough and the possessor of solid, unencumbered securities who neither speculates nor borrows money, feels strong and independent and is in far better condition to cope with the trials of life which come to all.

There is nothing to prevent one from incorporating the above in one's own last will and Testament. We aim to do ours. It may HAMMER HOME to the children, just what a safe FIVE PER CENT. Annually, really means.

Judge Enright Not Satisfied With Way
Case of Woman Who Abandoned
Child Was Handled

Mary E. Edwards, of Cushing street, was committed to the state reformatory for women at Sherburn and sentence was suspended for one year by Judge Thomas J. Enright in the district court this morning for unlawfully abandoning a child. The woman pleaded guilty to the charge. Simultaneous with the arraignment in the manner by which criminal cases involving women are investigated in this city came in for a severe criticism by the court. The justice, after calling Policewoman Emily M. Skilton to the bench and learning that no investigation of the case had been made, particularly following the infant's death, stated that he didn't like the way the case had been handled.

ARRESTS NEAR IN BIG BOOZE THEFT

Officers Expect to Land Those Responsible of Stealing $300,000 Worth of Liquor

"Rare and Old" Liquors Taken From Country Estate of Millionaire Leiter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Arrests within 24 hours were promised today by Washington police and Virginia authorities investigating the theft of more than $300,000 worth of wines and liquors from the country estate, near here, of Joseph E. Leiter, millionaire sportsman and clubman.

Attendants at the Leiter estate were checking up today on the list of liquors held in the cellar to which, according to the police, robbers gained access a week ago by boring through the three inch steel door with an acetylene torch. The list of stolen liquors, according to information received by the police, included several thousand bottles of champagne, hundreds of five gallon demijohns of whiskey and brandies, hundreds of bottles of yellow and green Chartreuse and other liquors described as "rare and old." The loot apparently was carried away in motor trucks, with-

VESEL RAMMED TWICE AND SUNK; 13 LOST

DUBLIN, Oct. 10.—Three Irish republicans, who had just been released from prison in Perth, Scotland, were among the passengers on the Laird line steamer Rowan, which was sunk early yesterday morning off the south-west coast of Scotland. The vessel collided with the American steamer West Canak, and sent out a wireless appeal for aid. The Clan Line Clan Malcolm rushed to the scene, and in a heavy fog struck the Rowan which quickly sank. So far as known, 13 members of Rowan's crew and three passengers were lost.

For a time it was believed that many members of the American southern Syncoated orchestra, a colored aggregation of musicians, which has been touring Europe and the British Isles, were among the lost, but it was determined late last night that all members of the orchestra were saved. One musician, however, died after being taken from the water.

TADMUCK CLUB
The first meeting of the season of the Tadmuck club of Westford will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the Unitarian church. Preceding the serving of tea by the reception committee, a program will be given including an outline of the year's work by Mrs. Walter Perham, chairman, a book review of "Main Street" by Mrs. Adelle H. Beckwith, and vocal selections by Mrs. Walter Burne.

Mixup on School Building

the motion to transfer the property to the city.
The four members of the board who differ with the superintendent are Chairman Delaney and Messrs. Bergeron, Markham and Warner. Their contention is that a motion was presented by Chairman Delaney that the building be turned over to the commissioner of public buildings, and amended to that motion in the effect that the matter be laid on the table until the next meeting, was presented by Mr. Markham. The amendment was voted upon and defeated, and then the original motion was passed. Messrs. Delaney and Markham voting in the negative.
This motion does not appear on the records of the superintendent, who denies any knowledge of it, and no action was taken by the superintendent to transfer the property to the city. When questioned this morning, Supt. Molloy stated that inasmuch as he has no record of the alleged motion, the matter will have to be taken up again by the board at its next meeting. On the other hand, a member of the school committee stated today that there is no necessity of another vote on the matter as such action has already been taken and all that is necessary is to instruct the superintendent to include in his records the motion as it was passed.

CALLED TO TESTIFY ON ALLEGED GRAFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Twelve witnesses with knowledge of alleged payments of graft by contractors to obtain city contracts in the borough of Queens were summoned to appear before the Mayor's legislative committee today at the resumption of the investigation of the city administration. Payments totalling $55,000 alleged to have been made by contractors in Queens already have been recited before the committee, and it was asserted other similar payments would be shown to have been made.

FOR COMBATING UNEMPLOYMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Sub-committees of the national conference on unemployment were prepared to consider recommendations for a program of permanent measures for combating unemployment and hastening the return to normal in industry and commerce in reconvening today in advance of the meeting of the full conference again tomorrow. Foreign trade, agriculture and the relation of credit to the country's economic structure were among the general subjects to be studied by the committees.

A report showed that emergency committees had been appointed by the mayors of 31 cities with organization of committees under way in 20 more.

of his remarks to the police, "the officer who has made the arrest should turn all information he has to the policewomen's department and they should conduct a thorough investigation. That's what they are getting paid for and that's what they are asked to do by this court. A matter of this kind should be carefully gone into and all circumstances surrounding the case closely investigated and reported to the court when arraignment is made." The court had previously asked if the woman had a police record and whether or not anything of her past was known. When the police and the probation officer stated they knew nothing about the woman the court expressed himself as dissatisfied with the course followed in the case and said that a thorough investigation should have been made.
The woman's arrest followed the discovery of a newly born baby boy on the roof of a ten-story building at the corner of Cushing street the night of Sept. 27. Although the woman submitted to a blood transfusion operation at the Chelmsford street hospital to save the life of the baby, death claimed him several days later. Inasmuch as the report of the city physician showed that death was due from causes other than those that may have resulted from the abandonment, no more serious charge was preferred against the woman.

ish delegation also had a meeting to decide upon the course of procedure.

Mr. Collins is staying with the secretary of the Irish delegation, the other Sinn Fein delegates being accommodated in another residence nearby. Arthur Griffith, the Sinn Fein foreign minister, said this morning he was delighted with the success of the Sinn Fein in obtaining the services as third secretary to the Irish delegation of John Chartres, who besides being highly versed in legal matters, was chief of the intelligence section of the war office armaments output committee during the war and for nine years was director of the intelligence department of the London Times. Mr. Griffith said he expected Mr. Chartres to be of great value to the delegation in interpreting the British proposals. Mr. Chartres is staying with Mr. Griffith.

Eamon J. Duggan, Sinn Fein member of the British parliament who since the truce has served as chief liaison officer, arrived early at the secretariat for a conference with the other delegates. He said he had arranged to keep in close touch with his substitute as chief liaison officer of Ireland regarding the truce, and declared he had no apprehensions concerning it. Murphy, the substitute, he said, had served as liaison officer in Athlone, where he behaved with discretion, no friction having arisen between him and the military.

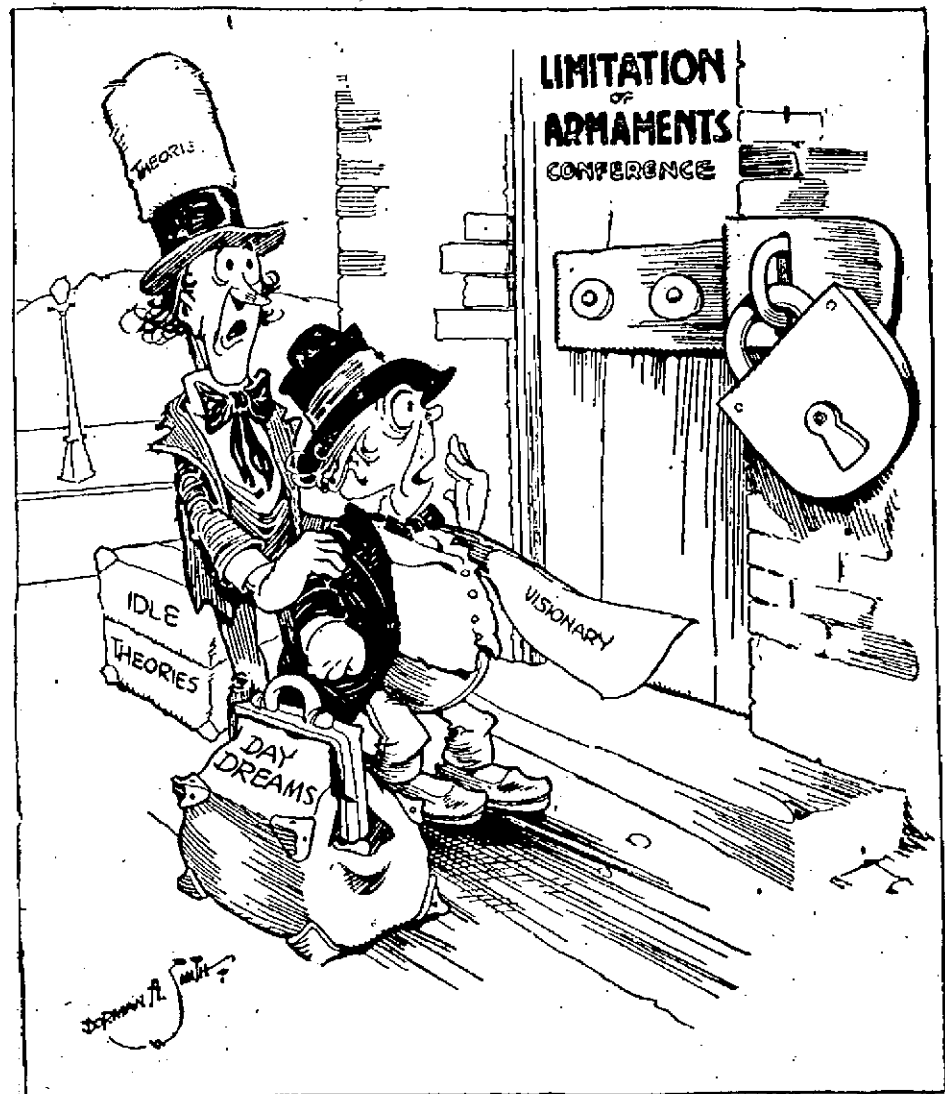

The Sinn Fein delegates have decided not to accept any hospitality while in England, except from personal friends. This decision is not due to hostility towards Londoners, they say, but because they wish to save themselves from being overwhelmed with invitations and desire to devote every moment to work in hand.

Desmond Fitzgerald, Sinn Fein minister of propaganda, said today he expected the conference commencing tomorrow would decide to issue an official communiqué daily, as was done when Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, met Mr. Lloyd George in London, some time ago. If the British representatives have a stenographer present, he declared, the Sinn Fein delegates will claim a similar right, and brought a man from Dublin with them for that purpose.

Whatever decisions were reached by the British conferees, this morning were kept closely to themselves, an official of the delegation dismissing inquiries with the statement that the matters to come under review at the first meeting tomorrow was for the negotiators to determine. Another meeting of the cabinet ministers will be held tonight.

Irish Delegates Confer

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Conferences preparatory to the beginning of formal negotiations tomorrow between Sinn Fein delegates and members of the British cabinet relative to a settlement of the Irish problem, were being held today by the Irish delegates. The Dublin representatives have brought to London a large retinue of secretaries, legal experts, historians and economists, and today's conversations were held to make final arrangements for tomorrow's meeting. There was some conversation last evening in regard to the possibility of the conferees during their labors here. There have been many scattering acts of violence recently at different places in Ireland.

Rita Weiman Evolves New Scenario Ideas from Old Ones

RITA WEIMAN, SHE IS ONE OF THE MANY POPULAR AUTHORS OF THE DAY WHO ARE STUDYING MOVIES IN THE STUDIO THAT THEY MAY CONVERT THEIR STORIES AND PLAYS INTO SCENARIOS.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Aspiring scenario writers who plod away day in and day out trying to fashion an acceptable script may lose heart when they learn how easily plots occur to Rita Weiman.

She has two photoplays showing simultaneously on Broadway. They are "Footlights" and "After the Show." After Miss Weiman had adapted "Footlights" for the screen she met Wm. DeMille. That play deals with the tribulations that beset a girl ambitious to succeed on the stage.

DeMille asked Miss Weiman to write a story with a protective theme, one about an old man's love for a young girl.

Several days later Miss Weiman recalled the conversation and—presto! the plot! She would have an old stage doorkeeper as the guardian of a young girl with stage aspirations.

She wrote the story and sold it to a magazine under the title of "The Stage Door." Then she adapted as a scenario for DeMille under the title "After the Show." Simple, wasn't it? "Footlights" tells the story of an unknown actress' rise to stardom. Therefore, it warrants the focusing of all action and exploitation upon the star.

"Footlights" is Miss Ferguson's best picture. That's because she displays in it some of that animation, that elusive thing called personality, evident in her stage plays. This quality was lacking in other films which I recall—"Sacred and Profane Love," "Lady Rose's Daughter," and "His House in Order."

In "Footlights" Miss Ferguson is Lizzie Parsons, a New England girl who is ready to give up her stage ambition after two years of small-time vaudeville.

Then Oswald Kane, famous theatrical promoter, finds her. To excite interest, she agrees to adopt the name of Liza Parsonova. He hires tutors to teach her to speak with a Russian accent. She acquires a taste for Russian tea.

He exploits her as a famous Russian actress learning English for the American stage. Then comes her debut as Liza Parsonova. She triumphs. Then falls in love.

She realizes her hero loves Liza and not Lizzie. She cannot divulge her true self. Death is the only end to this Frankenstein figure she has made of herself.

She rows out into the fog. The boat is found with her clothes in it. Liza Parsonova is dead, but Lizzie Parsons lives. Her lover finds her. Happiness ever after.

That ending is the same old stuff. The worth of John S. Robertson's directing and the talent of the star and the genius of the author are counteracted by the platitudinous ending.

CALHOUN AND COMPTON BOTH TO PLAY LITTLE MINISTER

Vitaphone has started to film "The Little Minister" with Alice Calhoun in the title role. Famous Players-Lasky has about completed a film version of the same play with Betty Compton, directed by Penrhyn Stanlaws.

Vitaphone announces that it has held the film rights to the Barrie play, which Maid Adams made famous, for several years. Famous Players-Lasky announces it made its version of the play under an agreement with the author.

Copyrights on the story in the United States are said to have expired several years ago. One wonders then why this delightful play has not long since been put on the screen in preference to some of the very weak stories which have predominated.

You Would Fly Out of Your Skin

Eczema Makes You Wish You Could

Your disease, which is sometimes called salt rheum, not only itches, but also burns, oozes, dries and scales over and over again. Sometimes it covers the whole body and causes intense suffering.

You have found that local applications have no lasting effect, and you want permanent relief.

You must thoroughly purify your blood or the eruption will continue to annoy, perhaps agonize you. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This blood-purifying medicine has been successfully used in thousands of cases.

To make and keep the bowels normally active, take Hood's Pills. They are gentle and thorough.—Adv.

SEPARATE SKIRT NOT YET DISCARDED

BY MARIAN HALE

Even the popularity of the one-piece gown has not completely sent the separate skirt into fashion's discard. Indeed, this season shows the separate skirt very much in evidence.

The individuality and loveliness of the new blouses with their long waist lines is partly responsible for this.

Then, too, the separate skirt is developed into so many artistic modes that often when worn with elaborate blouses it looks like a costume.

The skirt of chinchilla satin with the long hanging fringed side panels gives evidence of this elaborate tendency. The blouse is of pussy willow satin crepe.

Sports skirts claim the bigger part of these separate "jupons." They are often worn with smart blouses under the long coat. The satin-striped pussy willow crepe shows how effectively the pleated and plain models may be combined.

Five Men Reported Killed When Wall Collapsed at Lynchburg, Va.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 10.—Five men, all white, were reported killed and two others injured here, early today, when a brick wall of a building at Fifth and Church streets collapsed. The building was being torn down by the city and all of the dead and injured were workmen employed by the city.

The snapping of a plate over an old fashioned fireplace caused the wall to topple, catching the seven men almost without warning. Three men in the gang escaped, two of them by jumping 10 feet to the street below, while one pressed himself against the wall and escaped as the lower five feet of the wall did not fall.

TAKE YEAST THE BEST WAY—WITH IRON

If Weak, Thin or Run-Down Take Ironized Yeast, the Great New Vitamine Tonic Treatment in Tablet Form

At last the perfect yeast combination has been discovered!

No longer will it be necessary for people to put up with all the objectionable features of eating ordinary baking yeast for health. For yeast may now be taken in convenient tablet form, combined with iron, which is necessary in order to get the best benefit from yeast.

This preparation is called Ironized Yeast. And is the approved vitamine tonic treatment for run-down condition, loss of weight, nervousness, lack of energy, poor appetite, skin eruptions and other run-down symptoms.

The reason Ironized Yeast is bringing such splendid results everywhere is because it contains highly concentrated brewer's yeast, which is far richer in vitamins than ordinary baking yeast. Vitamines, as we know, are one of the most essential of all food elements—yet our modern diet is almost entirely lacking in them.

If you are weak, pale, sickly—if you are nervous, irritable, and can't sleep nights—if your vitality is low and you are getting old before your time—then try this remarkable new tonic. You will notice a good improvement in your condition even after the first few days' use. Pimples, blemishes and other skin blemishes usually disappear entirely within two weeks. Everywhere people are saying that Ironized Yeast is just the tonic they needed.

Ironized Yeast will keep indefinitely and costs no more per dose than common yeast. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and costs only $1.00—or just 10c a day. Special directions for children in each package. Sold at all druggists. Made by the Ironized Yeast Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Harley-Davidson Holds All 1921 National Championships

Wins the Five Championships at Syracuse

Through the spectacular cleanup on the one-mile dirt track at Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 19th, Harley-Davidson annexed the 1, 5, 10, 25 and 50 mile National Championships to its long string of unequalled achievements. Not only did Harley-Davidson win every race at Syracuse, but three new M. & A. T. A. records were established. Fred Ludlow on his reliable Harley-Davidson covered the 50 miles in 38 min. 52.13 sec., the 25 miles in 19 min. 17.6 sec., and the 10 miles in 7 min. 38.8 sec., thereby clipping 1 min. 60.47 sec., 6.8 sec. and 6 sec., respectively, from the former M. & A. T. A. records already held by Harley-Davidson.

Harley-Davidson Establishes Many New M. & A. T. A. Records

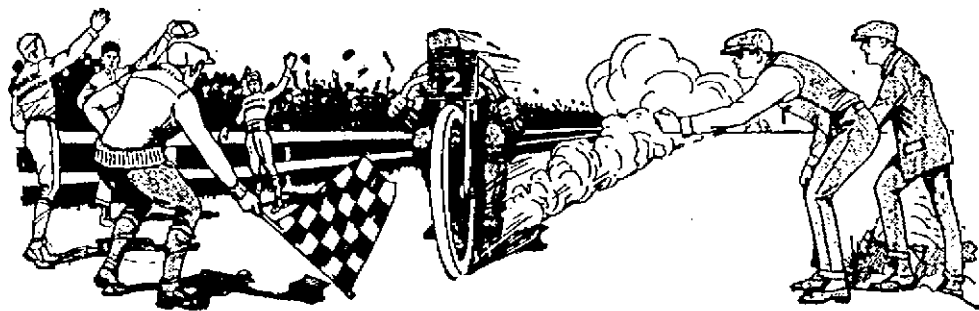

The 1921 racing season was a year of continuous record smashing for Harley-Davidson. In the National Championship Races alone, Harley-Davidson established six new M. & A. T. A. records. And today, Harley-Davidson holds the coveted position of absolute 1921 National Champion, by virtue of winning the five short distance championships at Syracuse and the three long distance championships at Dodge City, Kansas, July 4th.

POLICE WORKING ON BIG LIQUOR THEFT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Washington police were co-operating with Virginia authorities and private detectives in an effort to trace wines and liquors, said to be worth $300,000, which were stolen from the country home, near here, of Joseph Lister. The theft, it has become known, was committed a week ago yesterday, and the authorities have been quietly working on the case since, apparently without results.

Police here said they believed it was the largest theft of a private stock of liquors since prohibition went into effect.

Using an acetate torch, the robbers, during the absence of the estate caretaker, bored through the three-inch steel door of the wine cellar. Hundreds of cases of liquors and wines, the police were informed, were removed and hidden away in trucks.

The latter estate is situated in Virginia, about four miles from the District of Columbia line and about a mile off the Leesburg pike. The caretaker was the only one living on the estate at the time of the robbery.

SENATE PARTY

Lines Ignored

Closing Debate on Bill to Grant Free Tolls Through Canal to U. S. Ships

Passage of Measure is Predicted by Friends and Foes—Lodge Opposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Senate party lines were ignored in the closing debate today on the Borah bill to grant free tolls through the Panama canal to American coastwise vessels. A vote was cast, under the Panama Canal treaty, but said that right should not be exercised, "when there are compelling reasons against its exercise."

"The reasons against its exercise now, on the eve of an important international conference to which we have invited representatives of the great nations of the world are especially potent," he added. "This question concerns Great Britain primarily, but also all the other nations, for ships of all nations use the canal."

Senator Lodge urged arbitration of the toll question and said this nation would have to agree to arbitration, under its treaty with Great Britain, if that nation should request it.

Senator Horah, republican, author of the bill, said he was inclined "to agree" but pointed out that former British Ambassador Bryce had said there was "nothing to arbitrate" over a tolls exemption to American coastwise ships.

Senator Cummins, republican, Iowa, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, supported the bill.

Senator Williams, democrat, Mississippi, supported Senator Lodge's suggestion for arbitration.

A resolution offered by Senator King, democrat, Utah, as a substitute for the Borah bill, would authorize the president to negotiate with Great Britain for submission of the controversy to the Hague.

Senator Ashurst, democrat, cited democratic and republican national platform pledges for free tolls and said the democratic plank had been "broken."

said college to devote such income to such other medical investigation or research as in their judgment will most largely benefit the physical well-being of mankind.

The residue of the estate is disposed of as follows:

More than fifty years of my life have been largely devoted to the maintenance and improvement of the water power of the Merrimack river, especially at Lawrence and Lowell, and thus to the upbuilding of those cities and their industries. I therefore give, devise and bequeath all the real, residue and remainder of my estate of every kind, nature and description, of which I shall die seized and possessed or to which I may be entitled at the time of my death, unto my trustees hereinafter named and their successors, in trust, however, for the following uses and purposes:

(1) All property held under this article shall be designated as the "Hiram Francis Mills Fund."

The net income of this fund shall each year forever be applied to such charitable purposes as the cities of Lawrence and Lowell (and in substantially equal amounts in each city) as said trustees and their successors shall, subject to the approval hereinafter required, from time to time, select or determine. Inasmuch as for many years I have been engineer of the Essex company and in the engineering of the proprietors of the Locks and Canals on Merrimack river in Lowell, I hereby direct that the expenditure in Lawrence of income under this article shall be subject to the approval of a majority of the board of directors of said Essex company duly evidenced and transmitted to said trustees, in writing, and the expenditure in Lowell of income under this article shall be subject to the approval of a majority of the board of directors of said proprietors duly evidenced and transmitted to said trustees, in writing, and is my earnest wish that in the distribution of said income special consideration be given at all times to the needs and welfare of the mill workers and their families in said communities. In thus requiring the approval as aforesaid of the directors of said companies to expenditures of income, it is my intention not to impose upon said companies or their directors any financial responsibility whatsoever.

AMENDMENTS

TO TAX BILL

Repeal of Transportation Taxes and Maximum Sur-tax Rate of 50 P. C.

Retention of Corporation Capital Stock Tax Favored—Other Changes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Amendments to the tax bill proposing repeal of all transportation taxes, including those on oil by pipe line and on parcel post packages, a maximum surtax rate of 50 per cent, and increased estate taxes were approved today by majority members of the senate finance committee.

The majority also approved amendments for retention of the corporation capital stock tax and for repeal of the 2000 exemption allowed corporations in the case of corporations having annual net incomes in excess of $5,000.

A flat tax of $6.40 a gallon on distilled spirits also was agreed upon, but with a provision, that there would be a rebate of $4.20 a gallon where it was shown to the satisfaction of the commissioner of internal revenue that the spirits were used for manufacturing or medicinal purposes.

Excise taxes proposed for repeal upon other amendments include the rates on sporting goods, chewing gum, electric fans, thermos bottles, smoking and hunting equipment, moving picture films, toilet soaps and powders, photographic apparatus, and accessories, furs and perfumes and cosmetics. The tax on works of art would be reduced from 10 to 5 per cent; the tax on candy made three per cent flat, and the additional taxes proposed on hotel rooms and office furniture of hard woods eliminated.

BOY REPORTED DROWNED

Turns Up Safe

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—John Manning, 19-year-old son of Michael J. Manning, appeared at police headquarters here yesterday to establish the fact that he was not drowned in Dorchester bay Saturday night. The father's report that the son had met death when he jumped out of a small boat offshore after the two had quarreled had set the police searching for the body. The son said he swam from the boat to a fishing schooner, aboard which he spent the night.

The elder Manning's story to the police was that following a scuffle he had exhausted and the son leaped into the sea. The father said he tried to follow in the boat, but lost sight of the boy.

Greek Officials Replace Turks

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The Greeks are replacing the Turkish civil administrations in the regions occupied by them in Asia Minor with Greek officials, according to despatches received in official circles here today. Some apprehension was expressed in these circles that the action of the Greeks may add to the difficulties of making peace.

NEW CHARTER FEATURES

There is probably no feature of the proposed new charter that will be more popular than ward representation in the municipal council. Each ward will be required to elect a representative to the council. This one of the places will be held by the wards and six members will be elected at large. We can readily imagine that many young men will seek the nomination for ward commissioner. There isn't a ward in Lowell that could not furnish fully half a dozen men eminently capable of intelligently directing the city's business. This feature of the new charter will bring the council closer to the people and the people closer to the council. It will also open the door of opportunity to many men who would never have been able to get into the city government before. The last ten years only fifteen men were elected as members of the municipal council, three of whom were elected as mayor. Moreover, it is a fact that every one of them was the exception of Commissioner Salton had been more or less identified with politics before entering the municipal council.

Perhaps the most likely of our citizens to be most likely in the new charter is the fact that the legislative and judicial functions of government are to be separated in accordance with long established custom. Under the present charter the municipal council is a legislative body and the commissioners are individually the administrative heads of the municipal departments. Thus two important government functions that should always be kept separate are vested in the same individuals.

The council of fifteen members will undoubtedly comprise a majority of men well qualified to transact the city's business with sound judgment; and hence the interests of the city will no longer be committed to the judgment of three men, a very small number to pass upon important questions of business and finance.

The mayor will be the executive head of the government and will have the power to nominate the less important officials subject to the confirmation by the council. His removal of the heads of departments will also be subject to the approval of the council.

Provision has been made under which the heads of departments will all be experts in their respective lines; and it will be the function of the mayor to see that they do their duty and to hold them strictly responsible for results.

The board of public service which will have charge of the streets and highways, can lay out a plan of street improvements and develop the system gradually from year to year, until we shall have as good streets as any city in the country.

The civil service nonsense will not apply to the street department under the new charter, for which there will be cause for celebration. The red tape of the civil service has now applied to street laborers is farcical and a useless source of trouble and delay.

THE TAX AGREEMENT

It seems that the conflicting factions in the republican party in congress have agreed upon a plan of taxation which they believe will serve their purpose and avoid further delay in getting the measure enacted into law. It had been supposed that there would be a radical reduction in the unjust and oppressive surtaxes; but it appears that one faction of the party has succeeded in carrying the day for an increase in these taxes by which men who have a certain income, will have to turn over 50 per cent of it to the government. It is safe to say that those who will be taxed to this extent will not be likely to exert themselves very much in adding to their incomes or else they will charge the tax up to the consumer as part of the cost of production. This tax is not likely to help the industries of the country as in many respects, it may be regarded as a tax upon production. However, the administration has had to make the best of a bad matter in order to break the deadlock and get the machinery of congress moving again.

It had been expected that congress would adopt some plan of tax revision that would relieve the industries of the country from the war taxes that have been bearing down so heavily upon them. It seems that this hope has already vanished and all that the people can now expect is a little shifting of the burdens, a little juggling of figures but with a complete retention of the war tax system devised to meet the vast expenditures incurred by maintaining our army and navy in the operations of war.

This must be a serious disappointment to the country which expects an intelligent revision of the revenue system. There is actually no reduction of any importance. Even where provision has been made for the repeal of the excess profits tax the measure provides that it shall take effect on January 1 next instead of dating back to the beginning of the present year. That arrangement insures another year of an oppressive tax for the industries of the country, and this at a time when relief from such a burden is most imperative. The republicans are certainly making a mess of things in general.

THE SPECIAL ELECTION

Tomorrow the voters of this city will be expected to pass judgment upon the question of whether the city of Lowell should purchase the plant of the Lowell Gas Light company to be run hereafter as one of our municipal departments. The undertaking would entail an expense of perhaps $5,000, and that would be only the beginning of the undertaking. This is not a good time to embark in the purchase of gas plants or the manufacture of gas. We can fare better by having the companies already in business, manufacture the gas for us and furnish it to sell it at a reasonable price. The purchase of the Lowell Gas Light plant would be a piece of unbusinesslike foolishness at the present time. It would be a step towards municipal bankruptcy and one that would drive the tax rate up to perhaps $10 and increase rents throughout the city in the proportion.

We realize that there are many consumers of gas in this city who would like to give the gas company a bump in the street, but that is not the question. It will not hurt the gas company in the slightest degree to vote in favor of purchasing their plant at tomorrow's special election. Our advice is to let the gas company keep its plant by voting "no" on the question of purchase. The city will thereafter be free to take whatever steps may be necessary to compel the gas company to give the consumers a supply of genuine gas at the lowest possible price.

TO START BUSINESS

It appears that the things primarily needed to start up business all over this country are a revision downward in the internal revenue laws, the enactment of a protective tariff law and the solution of the railroad problem. Congress has thus far solved none of these problems and in its failure to do so, it is in a measure responsible for prolonging the business depression.

President Harding, however, gave his approval to a law under which the government is to loan $2,500,000,000 to the farmers of the United States and the dealers in farm products. That is the chief measure thus far enacted at the special session of congress for the purpose of restoring national prosperity. It is significant, however, that the agricultural interests of the nation have combined with the cotton planters under what is known as the Agricultural Bloc for the purpose of influencing congressional action in their favor. They have appealed to the American Federation of Labor to join them in this movement; but we surmise that the federation will not follow the fatal example of the Knights of Labor when Terence V. Powderly led them into the republican camp. We feel that Mr. Gompers is not likely to do anything so foolish.

There is much talk about financing our foreign markets, just as if in order to secure foreign trade, we had to furnish the money to foreign buyers in order to induce them to purchase our goods. It is hardly credible that the foreign market representing seven per cent of our commerce should be rated as of greater importance than our domestic market representing 93 per cent of our business. Our industries, both agricultural and otherwise, must be duly protected against foreign competition; otherwise the domestic market will be flooded with foreign goods which can be sold at a price much less than the cost of production in this country.

The necessity of protection against such competition has so impressed England that she is adopting a protective tariff contrary to her time-honored policy of free trade. That is another reason why adequate protection must be adopted against the cheap foreign products.

WAGES

The nation's manufacturing establishments last year employed 9,103,200 wage earners and produced $12,910,202,000 of goods, says a census summary.

That is, each wage earner produced products averaging $20.00 in selling price.

Those who get less pay will wonder where the difference went. Answer: Raw material, rents, taxes, depreciation, new equipment, overhead, cost of selling, and paying dividends on $4,575,911,699 capitalization of the manufacturing industries. First you work for money. Then money works for you—if you save and invest it.

DIVIDING THE DAY

If you work eight hours a day, that uses up the equivalent of 122 days a year. Sleeping eight hours a night uses up another 122 days. Sundays take 52 days. Then 30 days are devoted to eating. If your meals consume two hours a day. That leaves you 39 days for dressing, undressing, going to the movies, journeying to and from work, washing the car and doing odd jobs around home.

Puzzle: Where does the rest of the day go? The answer is: making money. We need the first campaign, with a "non-partisan" rally under G.O.P. auspices. The "non-partisan" line on the big bills was in small type.

New Yorkers are "banners for order, competent, liberal, human government." Will they remember what they want when the polls open next month?

The privilege of helping those who need our help is still our best possession. British rule in India faces a crisis paralleling that of Ireland. And India is far away.

SEEN AND HEARD

Ireland is fighting for home rule—so are most husbands.

It doesn't make any difference who you are, if you go looking for trouble you'll find it. And what you want and the chance are you'll get more than you bargained for.

Never Again!

Prof. Jensen of Brigham Young college said in a talk on education in Logan: "The purpose of education is to get the child's mind to think. You can't do this by frightening the child. That is why I disapprove of stern, severe, bad-tempered teachers. A teacher of the latter sort had a visit one afternoon from the bishop of the diocese. The bishop, a quiet, soul, called before him a white-faced girl who was very much cowed and depressed from an undesired punishment he had received that morning. 'My boy,' said the bishop in eloquent tones, 'who made this great and glorious earth of ours and set the sun, moon and stars in the wonderful firmament?' The white-faced boy began to blubber. 'I did,' he said, 'but I won't do it again.'"

Little Eva in 1921

The birthday of the first of all the Little Evas has just been celebrated in Cambridge, Massachusetts. The scholarly Prof. Barrett Wendell, of that seat of learning, wrote in his history of American literature that a play made from Harriet Beecher Stowe's book was still—had been told—performed in country places. Professor Wendell, a brilliant and perceptive critic, was of a temper too aristocratic to appreciate the firm hold of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in play-form as in book-form on the public imagination. Dickens' Little Nell and Mrs. Stowe's Little Eva have become epic figures, taken to the heart and enshrined in the sentimental fancy of the people. It's of no avail to come along with high language and tell the host of readers that they are snooty dolls. Don't you remember the first time you saw "Uncle Tom's Cabin"? Perhaps it was also the last—and yet for the two pivotal characters of the negro slave and the little white girl of his worshipful devotion there were scenes whose pathos only the hard-hearted and the sophisticated could resist. In fact, some versions of the play relieve the strain on the pocket handkerchief by introducing to the astonished spectator two Topsy's and two of pretty nearly everybody in the cast except Uncle Tom and Little Eva. When the American public ceases to care for Stephen Foster's songs and no longer wants to hear of the plantation, then nobody will patronize the play or read the book. But until that time the bloodhounds will continue to chase Eliza across the ice and Simon Legree will crack his whip till the gallery's blood runs cold.—Philadelphia Public Ledger

Observations of Pe Kok II.

(From the Chinese)

Two of the human race I know
Who are unique.

I honor them above their kind—
Their originality cheers me profoundly.

The first is a Man
Who never played tennis till last week.
I watched him pick up a racket for the first time;

I watched him as he carried it to the courts;
I watched him as he awaited his turn to play;

And never once
Did he hold it to his breast
And strut upon it.
Pretending it was a lute.

The second is a Boy
Who is about to join the Scouts.
I went into the woods with him,
And he carried a hatchet,
And not one
Did he throw that hatchet at a tree!

The Man will be a Great Player.
The Boy will be a Great Scout.
I honor them.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Park workers are busy again on the sled playgrounds in the vicinity of the street car line that runs to the Oakland district. I had visions of a country fair plopping match Friday when I passed the playground and witnessed two plowing teams at work side by side, cutting great furrows in the sides of a sandy hill. The work will include a great deal of leveling. I am told, and when completed in the years to come, will make a notable improvement in this popular playground area.

When Lewis Clark, horseman and hardy man on an Mississippi street, ever wants to quit the mercantile field he will have no trouble keeping his backbones filled up on the "deposit" side by traveling right back to the old farm. For yesterday I learned something about Mr. Clark that I never knew before. He can grow corn even though corn-brokers try to outflank him and the dry seasons encompass him. As I was about to board a train for the Acton fair, Mr. Clark was seen with a package of yellow corn in the ears, package being marked in proper fashion. I then invited him to send the corn to the fair exhibit tables, and he agreed to let it go. The farmers were greatly interested in the display, and later Mr. Clark explained why he thought so much of his home product.

It seems that this corn is a field variety, with extra long ears and bright yellow. The kernels are very large and the cobs very small, some of them being no larger than carpen-

Berton Braley's Daily Poem The Lesson

My last silk shirt is all worn out
And so are my well silk socks.
And it's back to cotton for me, no doubt.
For I'm stranded upon the rocks:
My wife's fur coat is in pawn, I guess
And her shoes with the high French heels
Have gone the way of her satin dress,
And we're scrimping upon our meals.

"Well, you should have saved your cash," says you?
"And maybe I should," says I.
But say, when some of your hopes come true,
And your wages, for once, will buy a few of the luxuries of earth,
The things you have helped to buy—
You'll find they give you your money's worth.
You'll get them—and no mistake!

I've had to struggle through all my life
Just making the two ends meet.
Just getting clothes for the kids and a wife,
And a place to sleep and eat;
So when my wages begin to climb
I'll jump at the chance for as long as I can!

I splurged—and it sure was good!
I'm back to the old hard lines again,
But I'm sore on the guys who say
"Silk shirts ain't proper for working men."

Say, how do they get that way?
I'm a human being like you, I guess,
And when things pick up, you'll see
My wife tagged out in a new silk dress
And a new silk shirt for me!

ter's pencils. Mr. Clark told me the corn was not generally found on the market, and is known as "Improved Longfellow," being a cross between the well known yellow Canadian Longfellow and the old-fashioned Longfellow corn. The cross variety is a quick grower, maturing in from 90 to 100 days. The Clark exhibit at the Acton fair was one of the features of the long tables of the farmers' section.

While climbing one of the hills in the Oakland section of the city Friday, I ran across a gang of city workmen hard at work laying a stretch of new 12-inch water pipes. Shepard states, where the work is being done at the present time, is not very long, but very steep, and the work is arduous. The men are taking up the old 6-inch pipes which furnished inadequate fire protection. The larger flow through the 12-inch mains is expected to prove a blessing to the hill folks in the Holyrood avenue section.

Another field corn story came to the Man About Town Saturday when I stopped for information at the store of E. and E. Prescott, 27 Laurel street. A large ear of golden corn was on display on a glass case in the center of the store. I learned from the young man dispensing groceries that it was raised on the T. G. J. Prescott farm in Andover. It is one of the largest ears of corn found out in that section this year, and will be given away. I was told, to the person guessing the nearest to the number of kernels on the cob.

Have you forgotten the old-time hitching posts that every old-time Lowellite of prominence always had in front of the house, on the edge of the curb?

There are not many left in some sections of the city, but I ran across two on Friday on Nesmith street near Oak, that were curiously interesting. They stand some eight feet apart and about four feet high on the edge of the gutter. They are of cast iron, painted black and equipped with rings that swing in every wind that blows and dangle queer tunes on the hollow posts. The latter are well designed. About a foot from the ground each post bears four odd-looking heads arranged in a circle. They are hard to clearly distinguish, but they are there, foreheads, ugly eyes and bulbous noses, with mouths half-grinning. I could not learn where they were manufactured, but they have been there for years, I am told. The eight faces on the two posts make one think of the terrifying gargoyle that decorates some of the chaplains' towers over in Europe. Doughboys who had an opportunity to tour France after the war will remember some of these monstrous pieces of carving—images that startle wandering Americans when they see them on structures of great age, history and legend.

The shop of J. J. Donnelly of Lenton court is a favorite meeting place for local horsemen, several of whom were in Friday getting crack trotters ready for the Columbus day races. Horseman Orcutt had a good one there with shiny new shoes on—shoes of the baby variety, so small are the animal's feet. Humphrey, another crack follower, was also present with a fine looking race horse that will be on hand for the coming events. Donnelly tells me he is a member of the club, but plays no favorites. He is popular with those who like the half-mile game.

ILLITERACY IN LOWELL

Census Report 6,231 Over

'Ten Years of Age—Over 8 P. C. of Adults Illiterate

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—The population of Lowell, Mass., as enumerated in January, 1920, there were 6,231 persons 10 years of age and over who were illiterate in the sense of being unable to write. Of this total 5,500 are foreign-born whites. The percentage of illiteracy in the total population 10 years of age and over is 6.9, which shows a slight increase since 1910 when it was 6.0. For the native white the percentage is 0.5, and for the foreign-born white, 15.9.

That the younger generation in this city is much less illiterate than the older, is indicated by the fact that while 8.3 per cent of the males and 8.9 per cent of the females 21 years of age and over the illiterate, the percentage of illiteracy in the population 15 to 20 years of age is but 2.0.

SECURITY OF FRANCE MUST BE GUARANTEED

ST. NAZAIRE, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—"France must remain armed as long as her security has not been assured," was the statement made yesterday by Premier Briand in an address outlining the French government's foreign policy.

M. Briand was surrounded by six of the ministers of his cabinet and four under secretaries. He declared that at the present moment the French premier needs to have full authority to deal with all questions with which he treats in the realm of world interest.

"My voice must carry high and far," he said. "Tomorrow, beyond the seas, we are invited to examine into certain problems. I have had the honor to reply 'present' to that invitation. We shall go to Washington, first, in order to fulfill a duty to gratitude and to see in their home those noble and brave soldiers whom we have seen in France. We will go also to accomplish a duty toward France.

"France must remain armed as long as her security has not been assured. France has earned the right to reparations and security. At no time shall the French government yield on those points. I will refute the accusations of imperialism which have been made against France. Our allies know that we demand our rights—nothing more. Tomorrow at Washington I will prove to the Americans that France wants peace.

We will discuss the great problems of the day calmly and impartially. If guarantees of security are granted France, she will be among the first nations to enter into the policy of disarmament for France loathes war and imperialism.

"This government has confidence in the government of Dr. Wirth (the German chancellor). The undertakings entered upon by the present German government have been fulfilled. France's attitude in these difficult moments: 'No aggressiveness, but no timidity.'"

M. Briand touched lightly during his speech on the critics of the Versailles treaty and its execution by his government, saying a poor instrument had been placed in his hand and he had used it to the best possible purpose, but that he shunned political controversies and would not enter into any of them. In concluding, the premier said:

"The country must weather these stormy days by the strength of its labor and work in developing its wealth and resources."

Russia To Throw Oil On Market

MOSCOW, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The commissariat for foreign trade has decided to throw on the local market, all the kerosene oil allotted for export and also to organize an export base in Riga, Latvia, for naphtha products. The announced purpose of this decision is to 'avoid' control of these products by a Western European syndicate which the commissariat alleges, offered only one-seventh of their value for them.

FOR A CONSTIPATED CHILD

A small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring quick relief.

MOTHER, when one of the children is constipated are you going to give the first laxative within reach? It is dangerous to do so. Some have been known to rupture the intestines of little children. Don't be beguiled by the outside sugary appearance. Look into the formula. Calomel is seldom necessary; salts, minerals, coal tar, never!

Unlike these, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is admirable for children, as it is for grown people, too. Mothers have been giving it to children for 30 years. They know it does not gripe, and is free from narcotics. The formula is on every package, and you can see it is vegetable, just a combination of Egyptian Senna and other laxative herbs with pepsin. Use it yourself and you will find it is not necessary to take it every day, nor to increase the dose, and that it is pleasant to the taste. Bottles can be had at all drug stores, and the cost is only about a cent a dose. Have no hesitancy giving it to a baby in arms. It is absolutely safe.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

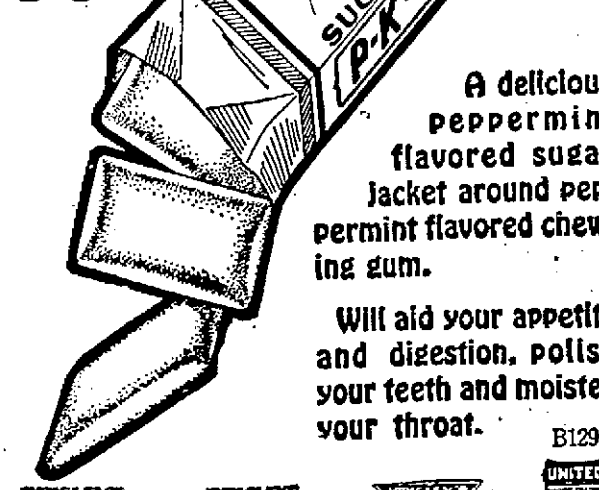

Free escape constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment, let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. Supply and your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 214 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write me today.

Dreamer Quits Two Million Dollar Job To Build Model City and He Built It

C. HAROLD WILLIS, BUILDER OF THE MODEL CITY OF MARYVILLE, AND THE MARYVILLE BANK. THIS PICTURE WAS TAKEN ON A PAYDAY, AND SHOWS MARYVILLE CITIZENS WAITING IN LINE TO DEPOSIT THEIR SAVINGS.

(By N.E.A. Service)

MARYLAND, Oct. 7.—C. Harold Willis, multi-millionaire, dynamic dreamer, master machinist and expert metallurgist, who quit a job paying him more than $2,000,000 a year to build the "model city of America," is proving his clear-sighted vision.

Fifty-five miles north of Detroit is Maryville. In October, 1919, it was a mere river hamlet of 200 inhabitants. Today there are more than 3,000 residents, five prosperous industries employing nearly 2,000 men, and new citizens rushing in so fast it is impossible to build homes rapidly enough for them.

Where two years ago only a few cozy houses nestled as if slumbering along the St. Clair river, today there is a city in the making with paved streets, slightly homes with every modern improvement, up-to-date school-houses, a bank, postoffice, civic recreation hall, Y.M.C.A., board of commerce, municipal orchestra, moving pictures and everything that tends to develop the best in its citizens.

The little bank, capitalized at $100,000, has deposits of $500,000.

Metropolitan Police

The police department, clad in regulation metropolitan uniform, is on the job—but there is no jail. There is no need for one. The police keep busy acting as traffic officers.

Two additional industries, one employing 1200 men, have purchased 10 and 25 acres of land for factory sites. Several others are negotiating.

Where once the rural fisherman whiffed away the days with pole and line, is being built a big steamship dock.

The village is well situated so far as transportation facilities are concerned, being served by a railroad, interurban and two Great Lakes steamship lines. The interurban tracks are to be moved at a cost of $1,000,000 so as to run through the main street.

Where the old village was, is now the factory district. Houses that have not been moved already will be picked up and taken to the new residential district, or torn down.

Result of Vision

Back of all this Utopian development is the story of one man with a vision and ceaseless ambition whose code, he says, is to make a man happy in his home, his work, and his play. "Accomplish these three things and a man will stick," he says.

At 12 years of age Willis was a machinist apprentice. At 40 he had worked himself up, through and out of his trade. From 1903 to 1919 he was in charge of production for Henry Ford. And Ford was paying Willis what is said to have been the biggest salary in history.

However, with a fortune said to have totaled more than $1,000,000, Willis threw up his job. He set out to build an automobile according to his own ideas in a city built according to his ideals.

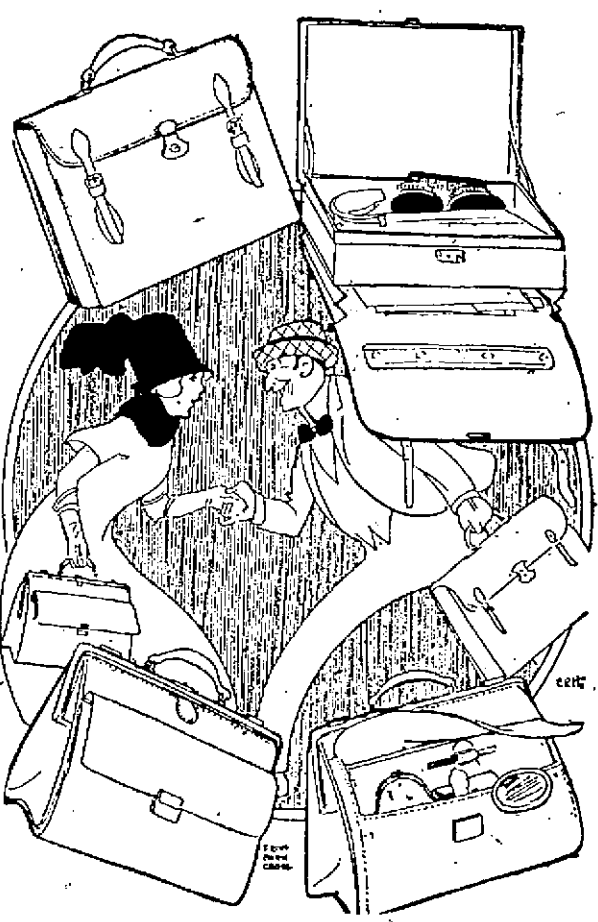

City Telling Hard

Every citizen of Maryville is so enthusiastic and backs Willis so thoroughly that they're working seven days a week and 12 to 14 hours every day to help him achieve his goal.

Willis originated the idea, and his money has made it possible to go ahead with his plans. He easily could have been a virtual dictator of the city. But he has, with the help of another former Ford lieutenant, John R. Lee, built up such a co-operative organization, and put things so much in the hands of those living there that there is no friction.

A commission form of municipal government was organized with a manager directing its business affairs. W. H. Watkins, manager of the Detroit Tigers when they won their first pennant, is village president.

NEW "OVERNIGHT BAGS" ARE HANDY

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—At last accessibility has been introduced into traveling articles.

How many women have been distracted by the necessity of unlugging toilet cases or handbags or suit cases and rummaging for their mirrors or stationery or pencils.

The "Accessible" is the very latest thing for women in traveling. All the comforts of home are condensed into 16-inch, black cobra, "overnight" bags with outside compartments.

In this outside envelope there is a place for stationery, pencil, loop for mountain pen, attached purse and mirror flap, with lock and keys.

All these conveniences are handy and there is no necessity of disturbing the contents of the bag.

Men, too, have been considered in the season's traveling innovations. The "suit-case portfolio" is an entirely new "overnight" bag. There is the case for wearing apparel and extension pockets for papers and documents.

It comes in tan and black-grained hide and has straps fastening a top handle and a strong lock. It is only 16 inches long.

SAYS SHE HAD TO STAY UP ALL NIGHT

MRS. DAMIANO OFTEN HAD INDIGESTION SO BAD SHE COULDN'T LAY DOWN—NOW RESTORED

"If anybody could know just exactly how I suffered, and just how well I feel now, they could readily understand why I'm so thankful to Tanlac," said Mrs. Peter Damiano, Postoffice Box 814, Lenox, Mass.

"For about two years I was almost helpless, for it seemed that everything was the matter with my stomach and it caused me to get so run-down and thin it seemed that I had no strength at all. I could hardly eat anything, no heavy food at all, and in spite of all my care in eating, I often suffered so from indigestion I just had to stay up all night long in perfect agony from those fearful cramps. Often my food soured and caused gas which bloated me all up and affected my heart so much I often thought it was my last hour. My tongue was badly coated, I never had a mean taste in my mouth, and very often I had headaches and dizzy spells that almost drove me distracted."

"A friend of my husband told him about Tanlac, and right after he brought home my first bottle I noticed my appetite had a new start and I was feeling better. I've taken five bottles now and have already gained twelve pounds in weight. I am still gaining. I'm eating most anything I want and my stomach trouble seems entirely gone. I never have a headache or dizzy spell and feel strong and well all the time. I just can't say enough in praise of Tanlac."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, V. Wright Drug Co., Boston, Mass. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

RUN DOWN 40 MILLION DOLLAR PLOT

BUDAPEST, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—A gang of forgers who planned to doat $40,000,000 of counterfeit American currency in the states of central Europe have been arrested here.

The counterfeiters specialized in a 20-dollar bill, several hundred of which had been circulated. The forgeries were detected through the fact that all the bills bore identical numbers and the additional fact that the paper on which they were printed had more than the normal quantity of silk threads. The bills were said to be remarkably close to perfection in execution.

Members of the gang had 5000 of the completed bills when they were arrested and materials enough to print a total of two million bills.

They are believed to have had accomplices among the Budapest police and to have had agents in Hungary, Jugoslavia, Greece, Slovakia and Rumania. The police believe a large quantity of the forged bank notes were sent to Belgrade and Sofia.

BRITISH IGNORE NOTES

Pershing Abandons Plans to Go to London to Decorate Grave of Unknown Tommy

PARIS, Oct. 10. (By the Associated Press.)—Gen. Pershing will not go to London to lay the congressional medal on the tomb of the British unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey and if an officer will be designated to represent the United States.

This announcement came last night from a most authoritative source. Lack of time available for the trip between now and Oct. 20, when Gen. Pershing sails for home, is the official explanation for his decision to abandon his visit to England. It is learned, however, that failure of the British war office to either fix a date for the ceremony or, until late Saturday, to give any explanation for not replying to repeated inquiries from the American embassy officials is the chief reason for Gen. Pershing's decision.

Gen. Pershing came to Europe for the purpose of laying the congressional medal of honor on the tombs of the French and British unknown soldiers. The Washington government so informed the British government early in August, and again when he sailed. So far as can be learned, no answer was received to either communication which asked that a date be fixed for the ceremony and that the general be informed.

Since his arrival in Paris further inquiries have been made at the British foreign office through the medium of the American embassies in London and Paris. One of these inquiries developed the explanation that such ceremonies usually took a long time to arrange.

The specially trained battalion from the American forces on the Rhine which acted as a guard of honor at the Paris ceremony and which was to have proceeded to London returned to Coblenz yesterday after having been held a week in Paris awaiting word from the British foreign office.

It is known that American officials in Paris as well as Gen. Pershing and his party, have been mystified by the silence of the British government and the matter has caused much embarrassment to the general. He has been besieged with invitations to dinners and official functions and the uncertainty of the London arrangements made it difficult to reply to many of these. Some military men have advanced the suggestion that the rule not permitting British officers and men to accept foreign decorations might be the cause of the situation; they further suggested that the British might want to arrange to confer a decoration similar in importance on America's unknown soldier before accepting the congressional medal.

On the other hand it is pointed out that the fact that the medal was conferred by an act of congress on behalf of the American people should place the decoration in a special category, where ordinary rules and precedents do not apply.

American officials in Paris are much concerned over the matter, and fears are expressed that an unfriendly interpretation may be placed on the incidents unless a full explanation is made of the delay and the ceremony is held as soon as it can be arranged.

TURN MACHINE GUNS ON HUNGARIAN REBELS

VIENNA, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Wiener Neustadt, one of the outside of Vienna, was under sporadic machine gun fire Saturday from Hungarian insurgents occupying the range of low-lying hills southeast of the city. The insurgents finally were dislodged by the officers.

Fichtelbach also was sharply attacked, and the inhabitants fled into Wiener Neustadt. There was shooting also at Brouck and at other points in the Letha sector, which forms part of the boundary between lower Austria and Hungary.

The situation is regarded as more threatening. In Vienna there is extreme nervousness over rumors that the Hungarians might attack simultaneously with a monarchist uprising in the city. The workmen have been instructed to hold themselves in armed readiness to cope with such an uprising.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Bishop Delany Assembly Receive Communion in a Body at St. Michael's

The Fourth degree Knights of Columbus of the Bishop Delany Assembly, held their annual assembly at St. Michael's church Sunday, and received communion in a body. The largest number in the history of the organization was present.

At 7:30 the Sir Knights, led by Faithful Navigator William H. Gallagher and the other officers of the organization, marched from the council rooms in Associate Hall, to the church. Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor, celebrated the mass. The communion was given by Rev. Francis H. Mullin, faithful prior of the assembly. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Fr. Shaw. He complimented the knights on their excellent showing and their splendid exposition of the Catholic faith.

Special selections were given by the Knights of Columbus quartet, directed by William F. Thornton, during the mass. Edward F. Slattery, Daniel S. O'Brien and Thomas Tobin gave solos. The final selection, the "Hymn to the Holy Name," was sung by the choir as the knights were leaving the church.

The members of the assembly returned to the council rooms after the mass and a communion breakfast was enjoyed. After the breakfast a program of speech-making and entertainment, of which Faithful Navigator Gallagher presided, was carried out. Mr. Gallagher gave a forceful talk on the principles of the fourth degree, and pointed out the patriotic and educational motives of the organization. He urged the Sir Knights to continue their good work as members of the order.

Rev. Fr. Mullin gave a brief talk on the excellent showing of the assembly members, and explained the movement now being taken up by the supreme assembly of the fourth degree, whereby all authentic information gathered by the order will be turned over to the writers of a new history of the United States. Father Mullin pointed out the part which the Knights of Columbus will have in this work.

Plans for selections during the breakfast were given by Charles P. Miner, chorus singing and solos being given by Patrick Novins, Edward F. Slattery and Thomas Tobin.

It was announced that on Columbus day, the assembly would accompany the Lowell council to St. Peter's church in the morning and later to Haverhill. The annual election of officers of the assembly is to be held a week from next Thursday.

A committee headed by Thomas B. Delaney was in charge of the arrangements for yesterday's program.

Officer Shot in Self Defense—Gunman Refused to Obey Officer Keegan's Command to Drop Weapon

Louis Sinasis Shot to Death in Dummer Street Coffee House—Witnesses of Shooting Say the Only Thing Saved Officer Was Failure of Dead Man's Gun to Function Properly

The repeated efforts of Louis Sinasis to pull the trigger of the revolver he kept pointed at Officer William L. Keegan caused the latter to fire the second and third shots that killed the former in a Dummer street coffee house Saturday night following a disturbance which the officer was attempting to quell, according to testimony of the policeman and of others who witnessed the affair.

PATROLMAN W. L. KEEGAN

It is the consensus of opinion, especially in police circles, that Officer Keegan used good judgment. He did not fire the first shot until his repeated commands to Sinasis to drop his gun went unheeded and Sinasis threatened him. As the first shot failed to frighten the gunman into submission and he was endeavoring to discharge a bullet from his own weapon, which, according to witnesses' stories, had apparently failed to work properly, Officer Keegan, realizing the peril of his position, fired two more shots and dropped Sinasis to the floor.

Police officials today stated that Sinasis, although little known in Lowell, possessed a notorious record in Lawrence and Portland, where, according to information obtained from those two cities, he had figured in shooting affairs.

An inquest will be held in the near future, but in view of the circumstances, it is not believed that any action will be taken against the officer.

The police also learned today that Joseph Rousseau of Merrimack street identified Sinasis as the man who attempted to shoot him in a lunch room near the junction of Broadway and Dummer street about two weeks ago. For this offense, a warrant had been issued and the police had been looking for him.

Story of Shooting

The fatal shooting of Sinasis occurred in the coffee house owned by Christina Stalos and John Jones, at 11 Dummer street, shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night. The room was filled with men who were playing cards. An argument is said to have started among the players at a table at which among those seated was Sinasis. Words followed and, according to versions of the affair told the police, Sinasis drew a gun and threatened to shoot one of the men with whom he had been playing. The two proprietors immediately went to the door where the gunman was standing and endeavored to take the gun away from him. They could not overpower him, however, and as some of the men fled out of the door, Sinasis is alleged to have fired a shot at one of them. It did not take effect. Officer Keegan, in whose regular beat the coffee house is situated, was walking in the vicinity. Hearing the commotion, he hastened to the coffee house and inquired as to what was the trouble. When told that Sinasis had shot at a man, the officer went towards him. The gunman, who still held the weapon in his hands, pointed the revolver at the policeman and told him he had shot him. If he didn't leave the place and mind his own business.

Confronted with a serious situation, Officer Keegan whipped out his gun and again warned the gunman to drop his weapon or he'd shoot him.

The petition of the Lowell Electric company for permission to erect and maintain a pole on Mt. Grove street, near Fourth avenue, was presented. A hearing was ordered for October 25. Petitions of the company to attach additional poles at various points on Princeton and Willard streets, were referred to the department of streets and highways.

The petition of the Scannell Boiler works, 80 Thorne street, for a garage license, was read. A hearing was set for November 1. A hearing on the petition of Joseph Spencer of 171 Lawrence street, for a gasoline license, was set for the same date.

COUNCIL MEETS AND APPROVES BILLS

The chief business transacted by the municipal council in its special meeting held in city hall, this morning, was the approval of the city's monthly bills. No objections or delays were registered, all bills being approved. The council then adjourned until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

Orders introduced by the department of streets and highways for sewer extensions and the installation of lights were presented and approved.

An order for the extension of a sewer on James street, from the intersection of the excess sewage on Moody street, was approved. Several complaints have been made to the city that the sewer in Moody street, at the vicinity of Suffolk street, was not functioning properly. During heavy rains it was noticed the sewage backed up in several places.

The extension on James street will take care of this work in the opinion of City Engineer Kearney and Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy. A 10-inch pipe will be laid for 75 feet at a cost of $500 with no assessment. The Moody street sewer was laid in 1873 and while it has carried on its work fairly well, heavy traffic of the last few years makes the task an impossible one at the present time.

An order calling for the installation of lights on Mt. Washington street, Olive street, Barstow avenue, Phoenix avenue, corner of Tann and St. Elizabeth streets, and the corner of Dodge and Herick avenue was approved.

A release to the Saco-Lowell shops of all damage to a hydrant located on Worthen street, on September 3, 1921, caused by a truck owned by the company, upon the payment of $151.25, was passed.

The claim for alleged personal injury and damage to clothing made by Mrs. Clara E. Liddell was referred to Mayor Thompson and City Solicitor Regan. Mrs. Liddell alleges she received a fall while walking on the south side of Westford street, between Foster and Marlborough streets, in front of 505 Westford street, on September 26, 1921. She alleges a defect in the sidewalk caused the fall. She asks damages to her face, knees and nerves in addition to damage to her clothing.

The petition of the Lowell Electric company for permission to erect and maintain a pole on Mt. Grove street, near Fourth avenue, was presented. A hearing was ordered for October 25. Petitions of the company to attach additional poles at various points on Princeton and Willard streets, were referred to the department of streets and highways.

SCHOOLS VISITED

Firemen Talk to Children on Fire Prevention

The school children of this city were given valuable information today on fire prevention when members of the fire department visited the various schools and talked on how to prevent fires and how to put out small fires.

The visit of the firemen to the schools was in observance of fire prevention day and their remarks were listened to with great interest. The children were assembled in the assembly hall of their respective schools with the principal and teachers in attendance.

Capt. Shea visited the Edison and St. Peter's schools; M. O'Connor, Coburn and Riverside; James Janzen, Butler and Sacred Heart; Patrick F. Cahan, Lincoln and Washington; Frank Sullivan, Moody and Immaculate Conception; John Whaley, Bartlett and St. Patrick's; L. J. Sweeney, St. Joseph's and Franklin; Capt. H. Merrill, Varum and Greenhage; Capt. Chas. Abare, St. Michael's; Capt. Mullen, Pawtucket; Henri Carpenter, St. Joseph's; Edouard Landry, St. Louis, and Lieut. Edward Cunningham, Green.

But One Referendum

voters at an annual or special city election. Our present charter then comes into effect with its referendum provision which in turn permits only one referendum to the voters.

If the foregoing claims by this legal authority be true, and we are inclined to believe they are, then it appears that it has been a mistake to assume that the voters of the city could have a second referendum on the question of purchasing the gas plant following an affirmative vote on the first referendum. It is therefore claimed that tomorrow's election will be the one and final vote by the electorate on the question of purchasing the plant of the Lowell Gas company.

An affirmative vote tomorrow would be a mandate to the city council to go ahead and purchase the gas plant according to law.

City Solicitor Regan when asked in reference to this matter said: "Should the people vote affirmatively on the question of purchasing the gas plant tomorrow, then the city council would be required to affirm the vote in two successive years after which the question would be passed upon by the public utilities commission. There would be no second referendum to the people unless the city council refused to obey the popular mandate in the first election and then it would come up only under the initiative provision of the charter after a petition had been lodged as in the first instance."

STOCK MARKET

The following is a complete report, giving high, low and closing quotations:

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—It was the only important exception to the former tone of the stock market, the opening of today's session. Union Pacific fell 1/2 and other transients as well as cotton carriers were fractionally lower. The construction of the market was again chiefly represented by oils, notably the low grade shares.
